INTRODUCTION

A few years before his death, Henry Hardin Sallee gave his grandson, Floyd B. Bolton, several mementos he had saved, and named a few of his immediate forbears. The mementos included thirteen letters and some clippings which revealed much about the early life of Henry Hardin Sallee. These items were put aside for over forty years until, having reached retirement age, the grandson decided to write an autobiography. A first step was to learn something about his family background. Ansearching proved so interesting that it became a hobby. This record is that portion of the resulting pedigree which relates to the Sallee family.

There is record of two Huguenots named Sallé (Sallee) who came to America. Marcus Abraham Sallé, born in France, came to New York from England in 1700. Two years later, he removed to Manakintown, Virginia, where he became a member of a Huguenot colony which had been founded in 1699.[1] One of the leaders of this colony was Charles de Sailley who is said to have been the older brother of Abraham.[2] Whether or not this is true is of little importance for this record since de Sailley left no known male descendants. The second Sallee, whose given name was Henry, emigrated from Switzerland to South Carolina where he received a grant of 200 acres in Orangeburgh Township, Berkley County.[3] He did leave many descendants, but no attempt is made to identify them in this account.

As shown on the accompanying Ancestor Chart, Henry Hardin Sallee, was the great[4] grandson of Abraham Sallé. A chapter will be devoted to each of the seven men in the line. An additional chapter will relate what is known about both of the two other main families in this pedigree: Leavell and Tudor. A final chapter will name some Sallee's whose connection to the emigrants is not known. Each chapter will tell what is known about its subject; his progeny; and, in some instances, the line of his spouse.

Most of the data will be on Family Group sheets. The sheets for an individual in direct line will be identified by the number of that individual on the Ancestor Chart, for example: the Family Group sheet for Moses

1. John Bennett Boddie, Historical Southern Families, Vol. I, p. 143.
2. Hester L. Garrett, A Book of Garretts, p. 392.
3. History of Orangeburg County, pp. 28-29.

Sallé, grandfather of Henry Hardin Sallee, will have the numeral 4 on the upper right hand corner. The sheet for an individual who is not in direct line will have the number of his ancestor who is in the direct line plus the number which shows his place on his father's sheet, for example: the Family Group sheet for Henry Jackson Sallee, Moses's eldest child, will be identified by these numerals, 4 - 1, and the Family Group sheet for Henry Jackson Sallee's third child, Moses Willard Sallee, will have 4 - 1 - 3. In this way the relationships can be recognized, and since the sheets will be arranged in numerical order, it should be easy to follow the "side" line. In addition, the pages in this compilation will be numbered consecutively and a complete index at the end will refer to these pages.

In this compilation, much of the material has been prepared by individuals other than this writer. They are too numerous to be named here, but an attempt has been made to give proper credit in each instance. It has not always been possible to secure permission to use such data; it is hoped this apology will suffice in lieu of such permission. In several instances, a sheet may include data from several sources, including this writer, and no credit is given to others. He has done almost all of the research on the first four individuals in the main Sallee line.

CHAPTER I, HENRY HARDIN SALLEE, NO. 1

One of the more interesting discoveries about Henry Hardin Sallee was how little he and his children knew about their ancestry. However, all agreed that the Sallee family came from France at some unknown time in the past. It is very doubtful if any of them had the slightest idea that at least 45 per cent of Henry's heredity was French Huguenot. In fact, it is somewhat amazing that this was true after seven generations.

There is a dearth of objective evidence about the life of Henry. At the beginning of his research, this writer was not sure he could prove his relationship to the grandfather who was part of his earliest memories. Gradually, records have been found which establish this and other relationships. Even so, very little is known about his life up to the age of sixteen except that he was born in or near Hannibal, Missouri; that his parents were living in southern Boone county, Indiana, in 1850; and that he was living with his parents in the neighborhood of Boxley, Hamilton county, Indiana, in 1864. Sometime during his early years, he had cut his instep with an axe while chopping wood which accident left him with a permanent limp.

In January, 1864, Henry, his brother Moses, and three cousins: Moses W. Sallee, R. F. Tudor, and Joel B. W. Holmes went to Indianapolis to enlist in the army. All were accepted except Henry. For the remainder of the war, these men and his older brother, Linzey, who had enlisted in 1861, wrote him letters which seem to be trying to console him for being rejected. By 1868, Henry is living in the neighborhood of Pittsboro, Hendricks county, Indiana. There was a cobbler in Pittsboro who is said to have been renowned not only for his craftmanship but also for teaching his trade to others. Henry's grandfather Sallee was living nearby in Boone county. It seems quite likely that Henry was learning his trade at this time. In a note, Henry states that he visited his grandfather in Kansas in 1870, and a son says that he went on west to Colorado before returning home.

Some three years elapse before the next definite record, but among his mementos was an undated clipping which reads:

> Mr. Sallee taught a few miles southeast of Tipton; he had a rather rough time of it, and reported to the trustee that $1.50 was as much as he could expect for teaching school, but it was too little for teaching school and fighting the boys too. The trustee was obdurate and Mr. Sallee resigned. His head was level.

Since his father was living in this area in 1870 and since Henry did teach penmanship at other times, it seems quite likely that this account refers to him. The newspaper account by his son, Paul, suggests an interest in medicine which may have occupied some of these years. However, he was called "Dock" in the earlier letters.

On 5 March, 1873, Henry Hardin Sallee and Mary Catherine McLaughlin were married. The "Jones" on the license was the name of her stepfather. Inasmuch as she was only fourteen years old, an affidavit of consent was required. This is included in this pedigree because it seems to miss the point completely. Her half-brother, Orlando W. Stevens, certifies that the almost 26-years-old groom is of proper age and states nothing about his teen-age sister. The couple lived in Sharpsville, Tipton county, Indiana, for the next seventeen or eighteen years where Henry was the village cobbler. Here, all their children were born. Henry gained title to a small lot which he sold 9 July, 1882 (Deed Record 14, p. 535). Apparently he did not have a clear title because his half-sister, Margaret Gipson Snodgrass sued him, obtained judgment, and a sheriff's sale resulted (Sheriff Book 2, April 17, 1884). The 1880 census, dated 12 June, lists this family on p. 20 as follows:

Sallee, H. H.	age	35	Occupation Cobbler
Mary		20
Admiral		4
Oner		6/12
Stevens, O. W.		23	Brother-in-law

The family moved to Indianapolis in 1890/91 where they were living on Nordyke Avenue in West Indianapolis in 1892. They apparently were back in Tipton county by 1894, if not sooner, because the writer has a certificate from Tipton High School dated 6 May, 1896 showing that Onor was enrolled in the second year having completed the first year satisfactorily. After Mary Catherine died of a malignancy in 1896, Henry married three more times; reportedly, two marriages were attempts to provide a home for his children. One marriage was to Hester J. Florea on 26 July, 1898, (Tipton County Marriage Book 9, p. 27). His fourth wife, Cora, was married about 1902. She had a young daughter by a previous marriage. Despite these marriages, the family disintegrated after Mary Catherine's death. Myrtle Onor was married nine months later. Guy was taken in for several years by a farmer named Bowlby who lived near Sharpsville. Apparently, the other two boys were left to shift for themselves.

Henry lived in Indianapolis most of his remaining years, but a picture of him and his son, Guy, taken in LaPorte, Indiana, 1901/2, is the next record of him. In 1902-3, he was operating a cobbler shop on Warren Street just north of Oliver Avenue in Indianapolis. When he began as a cobbler, shoes and boots, especially, were custom made. He would have a customer stand on a piece of paper in his stocking feet. He would draw an outline of the customer's feet with a pencil, and with this pattern and information as to style and kind of leather, he made the shoes. His equipment was a combination bench and seat with a vise on one side. His tools and materials were at the opposite end of the bench from where he sat. The leather was soaked to make it pliable, and then the uppers were shaped over wooden forms. The same kind of bench was used in Williamsburg two centuries earlier.

In 1913-14, Henry lived for many months with his daughter in Alton, Illinois. At this time, Henry earned most of his money by painting signs. He was especially adept at gold leaf work. He always had his kit with him and he could practically always earn a few dollars, possibly because in hard times, merchants needed advertising more than when times were better. Less frequently, he would paint houses.

Henry lived with his daughter again in 1922-3 at Bridgeton, New Jersey. Altho he was now in his middle seventies, he was still able to find employment as a shoe repairman. He was back in Indianapolis in 1925 and 1926. By March 23, 1927, he was living with his son, Webster, in Cleveland. A kidney condition became so serious that it was necessary to place him in a nursing home where he soon died. Henry's body was cremated and his ashes were kept by his sons until the summer of 1940 when they were buried by the side of Mary Catherine in Sharpsville Cemetery, Section 3, Tier 1, Lot 1.

Henry Hardin Sallee was a short man, only slightly over five feet tall, but he was big-chested and heavy for his height. He might have been considered handsome with a well-shaped head, blond curly hair, blue eyes, and a thin aquiline nose with finely carved nostrils. He was an excellent "book" checker player. One characteristic which Floyd Bolton remembers is that he never did hear Henry use vulgarity or profanity. Unquestionably, he was a quite talented person who did not contribute in proportion to his potential. He certainly was not successful as a husband and a father. He would be gone for long periods during which the family would be practically destitute. However, it is interesting to note that eleven of his descendants sketch of the Life of Doc Sallee Is Given by Son.

The Tribune has received a letter from Paul Sallee, who resides at Dabney, Ind., and enclosed is a sketch of the life of Doc Sallee, pioneer resident of this city, who died several days ago. At the time of the death of this man the facts of his life were published in this paper. The letter follows:

Mr. Editor:

To amplify the statement of the death of my father, Mr. H. H. Sallee which appeared in a Tipton paper some time ago, and just came into my possession I would like to submit the following sketch of his life and death.

Henry H. Sallee was born in St. Charles Co., Missouri, April 12th, 1848. He came to Indiana with his parents when a boy, marrying Catherine M. Stevens, May 18th, 1873, making his home in Sharpsville until 1891. Six children were born to this marriage, four of whom are living, Mrs. Carl E. Bolton, W. I. Guy D. and Paul B. Sallee.

For a number of years Mr. Sallee and his family resided in Tipton. While here he was engaged in insurance, shoe cobbling and painting. He developed a wide acquaintance because of his friendliness and congeniality, being known by his acquaintances as "Doc."

In Mr. Sallee's early life he desired to become a doctor. He attached himself to an uncle who was one of the old school of medicine. Doc's duties were to saddle the horses and accompany his uncle through the woods and marshes of Tipton and Howard counties, and help dispense the pills and powders to the patient as well as spiritual and political advice to the family. From this relation he was given the title of Doc. After leaving Sharpsville in 1890 Mr. Sallee studied medicine in Indianapolis, but the panic of 1893 along with the responsibilities of a large family made it impossible for him to continue.

In Doc's boyhood days he preferred to read and practice penmanship to splitting logs. He developed much skill with the pen, organizing penmanship classes in central Indiana. After the civil war he left home making a trip to Colorado, intending to make his expenses by the skill of his pen and his knowledge of books. He soon realized that the Western frontiersman was more interested in cattle than in penmanship, so he returned to Indiana.

Doc had a fertile and active mind. With his aggressiveness and general capabilities he could have achieved success in any field he may have chosen, but his general inclination was "happy go lucky," preferring to be one of the boys enjoying the fleeting pleasures of jovial friendship.

Whatever Doc's acquaintances or public life may have been he never brought it into the family group. His conduct and advice to his family was of the highest. He believed and practiced in his home life that good example and sound moral advice is preferable to set rules of popular conduct.

Doc was an exhaustive reader of the Bible and liked to quote to his friends and relatives some of the highest moral teachings of Christ, such as "He that is without sin let him cast the first stone," and "Judge not, lest ye be judged."

Mr. Sallee's death on June 9th was a great shock to his family. His death is deeply mourned by those who knew him intimately for those good qualities which he possessed.

His ashes will be interred in the Sallee burial ground at Sharpsville in the near future.

PAUL B. SALLEE.

have attended college; seven have graduated, and two more probably will do so soon. One great[2] grandchild is a highschool junior.

There is very little known about Mary Catherine McLaughlin which has not been written above. The official record of her death names her parents and states that she was born in Decatur county, Indiana. The writer remembers a picture which showed her as a brunette. This is supported by the fact that three of the surviving children were dark. She apparently was taller than Henry since all four children were appreciably taller than he. People remember her as a nice person with a fine sense of humor. Tradition says Henry taught her to read after their marriage.

The only record of Myrtle Onor Sallee Bolton, 1-3, which is included in this pedigree is her marriage license, since most of the vital information is given on either her parents' or her son's family group sheet. When she was married, she and her husband started living at his mother's home southeast of Tipton. This house burned during the winter of 1897-8 and the young couple moved into Tipton where the husband worked as a railroad switchman. In about a year, they moved to Indianapolis where they lived, except for about five months, for the next ten years. Here Carl worked at E. C. Atkins & Company and learned his trade of saw smith. In 1900-01, Onor had two operations for peritonitis. By 1905 she was sewing for the Kahn Tailoring Company and continued to do so until the family moved to Alton, Illinois. She was a member and Pocahontas (presiding officer) of the Daughters of Pocahontas while in Indianapolis.

In 1909, her husband, Carl E. Bolton, was hired by the Illinois Glass Company of Alton, Illinois. This job lasted until he was disabled by a heart attack in 1940. In 1920, he was transferred to Bridgeton, New Jersey, where they lived the rest of their lives. In Alton, the family was identified with the Congregational Church; in Bridgeton, with the Baptist. In Bridgeton, Onor was an active member of the Eastern Star. She was a tall (5' 8"), large, dynamic brunette. As a young woman, she weighed around 145 pounds, but she started gaining weight around 1913 and weighed between 220 and 240 pounds during her last twenty years.

Family group sheets for her son, Floyd B. Bolton 1-3-1 and her two granddaughters, Beverly Beatrice Bolton Cooley, 1-3-1-1, and Marie Onor Bolton Havens, 1-3-1-2, follow. For the ancestry of Carl Edward Bolton, see: Floyd B.Bolton, The Pedigree of Jessie Benton Fremont Mallery Bolton Porter, Hammond, Indiana, 1974.

Relatively little is known about Webster Irby Sallee, the fourth child of Henry Hardin Sallee. His siblings have said that he quit Shortridge High School, Indianapolis, shortly before graduation. The writer's first recollection of him was of his marriage to June Henze, probably in the early summer of 1903. She was the daughter of a retail coal and ice merchant whose yard was located somewhere around the intersection of Oriental Street and Southeastern Avenus.

This marriage seems to have provided a base for a rapid rise in the coal business, and it was not too many years later that "W. I." was the president of a company with coal mines in southwestern Indiana. His rise seems to have been the result of exceptional ability to sell. Another factor may have been that he was a better than 200 bowler, good enough to be the member of intercity teams.

He removed to Detroit, probably before 1913, when he came to Alton to visit his sister. While in Detroit, he became involved in molding sand as well as coal. A letter written in the spring of 1929 states that he was earning $12,000 a year and was doing a lot of business in Milwaukee; that his wife was in Cleveland; and that Ruth, their sole child, had graduated from the School of Architecture, University of Michigan, and was working on her third commission, a $40,000 dwelling.

They must have moved to Cleveland around this time. His sister visited him there in August of 1934 at his impressive suburban residence in Lakewood. Not surprisingly, since this was in the depth of the depression, he was having a difficult time maintaining his family in the manner to which they had become accustomed. He had designed and marketed an iron door stop which commemorated the N.R.A. At that time he was preparing to market a machine he had invented to pulverize limestone, coal, and similar materials. W. I. died 4 July, 1938, as the result of choking while eating.

After his death, his widow and daughter operated a gift shop. June Henze Sallee died in May, 1942. During the war, Ruth met and married a widower, Clayton C. Crouch. Upon his retirement, they settled in Madeira Beach, Florida. As the family group sheet shows. they were the parents of one son, Clayton Eugene, who graduated from Georgia Tech in industrial psychology. After a tour in the army, he returned to Tech where he enrolled in graduate school.

The first record of Guy Delano Sallee (1-5) which has been located is a picture taken with his father in Laporte, Indiana, about 1901. On 15 April, 1942, he wrote a brief biography which states that he finished grammar school when he was sixteen and later he devotes several more sentences to other people who taught him afterward. However, he writes that he was an apprentice for five years. During this period he did work for Thomas Cusack painting roadside signboards, and he could have been an apprentice, but he also "bummed" around the country, frequently with his younger brother, Paul. In 1902 they came to Onor's house with a Great Dane "to get the wrinkles taken out of their bellies".

Guy went to Cheyene, Wyoming, in 1906 and was a charter member of Decorators Union #571, organized on 3 January, 1907. The autobiography mentions other union activities including positions of leadership. He was back in Indianapolis at Easter time in 1909. Between then and 1914, he married a second time, and he and Paul had a successful painting business. In late 1914 or early 1915, the brothers came to Alton where they helped an Italian artist, Antonino Passalaqua, decorate the cathedral. Guy married his third wife and stayed in Alton for at least two years.

The next certain date is 28 March, 1921, when he married Edna Stahl. A picture taken in 1924 shows her holding their son, Royal, in front of a store he was operating on North Alabama Street, Indianapolis. Following this, he spent several years selling doctor books. However, by 1929 he was operating a spray-painting business from a garage next to his dwelling on Woodside Drive in Indianapolis and lobbying against a bill in the Legislature to prohibit spray painting. In April, 1932, he sued the State because a job on which he had bid was awarded to a higher bidder. He had paid his only visit to his nephew, Floyd, the month before. In November, 1941, he told Paul that he had made $6,000 the previous year. Early in 1943, a cardiograph showed heart damage and a doctor certified that he was unable to work.

Guy's son, A. Royal Sallee (1-5-1), continued his father's business with greater financial success and much greater recognition, having been elected president of the Indianapolis painting contractors organization several times and the State group in 1964. He was also president of his Lions Club. He considered his father a hard taskmaster who expected him to know how to perform tasks without instruction.

It is interesting to contrast this evaluation with that of his sister, Doris Jean Sallee Beasley (1-5-2), who wrote on 15 December, 1973 saying:

> "We had a mutual respect and love that enabled me to see.....that he was a man that I would always be proud to say was my father. When I was six Dad had to tell Royal and I there was no Santa, he did it with tears in his eyes.....He was always fighting for some underdog .....he fought into court the issue that children in our area had no transportation to attend high school.....He could repair things beyond anyone's imagination. He also invented a few things; one was a can opener in a pocker knife when he was about 15.....Dad ran for State Representative as a Democrat and lost (1942), the next election he ran for the same office as a Republican and.....lost again.....He went swimming with us, built us kites, blew up and cussed us, but most of all, loved us."

Guy resembled his father very much with his blue eyes and blond curly hair, but he was much larger, being five feet nine inches tall and correspondingly larger everywhere. Like his siblings, he was a proud person. When Mrs. Bernice Sallee Martin wrote asking for information about his family, he responded rather fully on 2 February, 1936. This letter contained some wild conjectures about the distant ancestors, but contained information about his grandfather, Blumer Perry Sallee, #2; specifically:

1. Blumer had a brother named Jackson;
2. His wife, Athaline Mary, was a cousin;
3. They had met and married when Blumer was going west;
4. The Boone county Sallee's (Jackson's descendants) and the Tipton county Sallee's (Blumer's descendants) were related, but if he knew, he did not say how.

He also stated that there were five apparently unrelated groups of Sallee's in Indianapolis, which is true today.

Any discussion of Paul Beverly Sallee (1-7) must start with his personality. As mentioned above, he was not quite nine when his mother died. His sister married within a year, and it was several years before she was in a position to give him shelter. His brother, Guy, was taken in by a man who wanted to adopt him. Nobody wanted Paul, and he never forgave the world for rejecting him. His schooling, likewise, was much less than that of his siblings. He read assiduously all of his life to overcome this handicap (and was remarkably successful), and he would resent the slightest criticism of his learning. In addition, he was short, 5' 6", and small-boned. His testicles were not descended, so a feeling of physical inferiority is easily understood. As a result, he could not get along with his wife or his close relatives, and he was definitely anti-establishment.

WRITE PLAINLY, WITH UNFADING INK OR INDELIBLE PENCIL. THIS IS A PERMANENT RECORD.

N. B.—In case of more than one child at a birth, a SEPARATE RETURN must be made for each, and the number of each, in order of birth, stated. This certificate must be filed by the attending Physician or Midwife with the Local Health Officer within 36 hours after birth.

The available records do not indicate when or how he learned decorating, but since he sometimes travelled with Guy, it is possible that he too worked for Cusack. However, as a journeyman, he usually worked as a paper hanger. For several years, he would work in either Chicago or Indianapolis in the spring and summer and in Florida in the fall and winter. The first grapefruit Onor Sallee Bolton's family ever tasted were sent to them from Florida by Paul.

An early example of his anti-establishment proclivities was joining the International Workers of the World (I.W.W.). He soon recognized that growing craft unions were a more practical approach at that time, so he joined that labor movement and was a leader in the struggle to establish the building trades unions in Chicago. He was given a lifetime paid-up membership in his local in recognition of his service. The methods used were very similar to those used by present-day protesters. In addition to his union activities, about 1908, he became a member of a socialist group in Indianapolis. His socialist interests persisted most of his life, Among his acquaintances were several famous figures. Portions of letters from two are included here. One of these socialists was Estelle Roberta King, an Indianapolis school teacher. Despite entirely different backgrounds, they eventually married 1, October, 1921, in Council Bluffs, Iowa. The circumstances which led to this marriage at this time are part of another complicated chapter of Paul's life.

On 5 February, 1906, Paul enlisted in the USA Infantry at Galveston, Texas. After about a month, his undescended testicles were discovered and he was given a physical disability discharge. In 1910, he was operated on for a hernia and one testicle was removed. Years passed and on 6 August, 1917, in Indianapolis, Paul was drafted and rejected because of the physical disability. Later in Omaha, on 28 March, 1918, he was drafted and inducted into the army at Camp Zachary Taylor. Naturally, he claimed classification as a conscientious objector. On 20 August, 1918, he requested his classification be changed. September 1, he received a warrant as a sergeant. On 26 February, 1919, he was discharged because of some unknown minor physical disability for which he was granted a pension of $8.00 per month. He continued to receive this until 13 March, 1937. He appealed to Senator Sherman Minton and apparently tried to strengthen his claim by some reference to the testicle. The pension was restored 17 January, 1940 and increased to $30.00.

It was cancelled again and another round of argumentation ensued. Finally, on 28 March, 1944, because of his current ill health, the pension was restored. There was another sequel to his army service.

Having seen a notice of a land lottery for veterans from the Omaha district, Paul applied when the drawing was made 6 September, 1921, and was granted a 160-acre homestead in the North Platte valley near Lingle, Wyoming. Paul and Estelle were married two weeks later. She resigned her vice-principalship in Indianapolis for a principalship in Lingle. By January 8, 1924, the residence requirement was completed and the title to the land was clear. In 1926, Julia L. King, Mother of Estelle, decided to sell the 25.59 acres which remained of the original King homestead. Paul and Estelle decided to sell the Wyoming property and to buy the King home. Both transactions were completed by 1 April, 1927. Estelle continued to teach at Lingle until May, 1929, while Paul returned to Indiana and remodelled and furnished the old farm house. He made a beautiful home of it. They lived there in semi-retirement until 1942 when they moved to West 60th Street, Indianapolis. The farm property was sold 24 October, 1947.

It would be nice to be able to say that this couple had an idyllic life in their delightful rural retirement retreat, but that was not the case. Neither was really happy in the country, and Paul was hard to live with. They separated in 1934 but went back together. They were divorced 7 January, 1940, and remarried 24 June, 1940. They separated at least once after they returned to Indianapolis. Paul died 7 April, 1948, and was interred in Grave 1193, Lot 95, Crown Hill Cemetery, Indianapolis. Estelle sold the 60th Street property and went to Denver in September to join the rest of her family who had lived there for years. She died 11 August, 1966, age 91 years, 11 months, 13 days, having been born 29. August, 1874.

Paul also received an inquiry from Mrs. Martin about the Sallee family. In his reply, written 13 June, 1946, he named his grandfather and his great-grandfather, Moses Edward Sallee, No. 4, and stated correctly that Moses came to Indiana from Virginia by way of Kentucky. There is no verification of the middle name of this Moses, so it is not used in this record.

The last two pages of a letter from Frank Harris (1854-1931) are shown on the next page. He was born in Ireland, but is identified as an American writer. His ideas on sex and politics would have been more in line with today's mores. The book in question was banned in the United States.

Half the remainder were confiscated in France to pleasure the American govt. & an Equal number were denied entrance into Italy as they might corrupt the home land of Boccaccio & Aretino!!! The consequence is I have had to put up the price to $25 for the few remaining copies. ~~But~~ And this price I usually ask in advance; but I don't want to make money out of my friends. I reckon that these copies I have saved have cost me about $10 Each, send me that or what your circumstances allow more in reason & I shall be satisfied. I am sending the book to you tomorrow by a roundabout way; but the only hitherto successful way. You sh^d receive it within a month from this date. If you don't, please let me know & I'll choose another route. Now if you dislike the book as too outspoken suspend judgment: it's the frankest truest book ever of a dozen of my most famous contemporaries besides new thoughts on a good many subjects. I find I've written you an Epistle; accept my best wishes for your happiness in the New Year & believe me Yours in all sympathy

Frank Harris.

P.S. I've just contributed an article on the great French poet, Verlaine, to the Paris "Figaro", the first paper in France: the Editor writes me I shall be the first time that any French journal had to appeal to a foreigner for information about the life of a distinguished Frenchman but "The My World" the other day allowed a man named Laurence Stallings to say that this new book of mine:- "Contemporary Portraits" is worthless - Read it & tell me what you think. Mr. Paul B. Sallee,
Holton, Indiana

Dear Mr. Sallee:

I hope Mr. Dawson of the American Express Company, to whom I referred your letter of May 9, gave you the information you needed about a trip to Russia. I have been tied up tight getting my new book on Mexico out in time for publication next month, hence my delay in answering you direct.

As Mr. Dawson may have told you, the rouble boot leggers will look you up without your having to worry about it. Or any foreigner resident in the country can tell you where and how to get them. If you did get away, or if you do later, I shall be glad to hear how you found the Soviet hoosgows compared with our own. It is many years since I gave up hoboing in this country, hence I know our modern jails only from the outside or through the printed page, but some day I hope to be able to take time off to get some first-hand information on them again.

I am leaving here on Election Day to drive to the coast with a few of my family, lecturing along the way and back again, after three months in Hawaii to gather material for another book. I shall not be home here again until April 19, but meanwhile I hope everything will go well with you. Having a 114-acre farm here myself in the Delaware Valley, 1½ hour drive from New York, I have some knowledge of what farming means, at least second-hand.

With all good wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,
Harry A. Franck

CHAPTER II, BLUMER PERRY SALLEE, NO. 2

The following few facts about Blumer Perry Sallee have been hard to get. The dates of his birth and death were taken from the gravestone in Ellis Cemetery which is located about one-half mile south of Phlox, Howard county, Indiana, just north of the Tipton county line, northeast of Windfall. On this stone and in correspondence, his first name is spelled Bloomer, but one legal record and his ancestry indicate that the correct spelling is Blumer. Census records and family history prove he was born in Kentucky.

The first specific record of Blumer is of his marriage to Margaret McClintock in Decatur county, Indiana, on May 10, 1838. However, a male in his age group is tabulated in his father's family for Decatur county in 1830 and 1840. The army record for his oldest son, Linsey, indicates he was born in Decatur county 27 August, 1841. The second child, Margaret, was also born in Indiana, probably in Decatur county, around 1843.

A letter written 2 February, 1937, by Guy D. Sallee, Blumer's grandson, contains this statement:

> In the gold rush of 1849 my great-great-grandfather and his clan started for California, but there developed a romance between my grandfather and grandmother, who were cousins. They left the emigrant train and was married.

There are several misstatements in this account but it seems to be correct so far as the marriage is concerned because in 1846 a third child, Moses, was born in Missouri and on April 12, 1848, a fourth child, Henry Hardin Sallee was born in or near Hannibal, Missouri. Their mother, Athaline M. Leavell, was born in Missouri and her parents lived near Blumer's grandfather, Henry Sallé, No. 8.

The 1850 census for Boone county, Indiana, lists Blumer on p. 229, and all subsequent records place him in central Indiana. There is another census listing for Blumer on p. 79 of the 1870 census for Tipton county. They are presented on the next page. The discrepancies in these two records proved very confusing, but most of the basic data have been verified. A letter to Blumer from his son, Moses, written 23 March, 1864, was addressed to Boxley, Hamilton county, Indiana. A letter written 31 October, 1968, by his younger daughters showed their address as Tipton, Indiana. He must have been living in Tipton county when his daughter, Nancy Ellen was married 12 October, 1876. The next mention of Blumer of Blumer and Athaline is a letter written by Nancy Ellen on 28 February, 1892, in which she wrote, "Pa and Ma is well as common." The letter implies that both her parents and Linsey lived within driving distance of Point Isabel where she lived.

Shortly after Blumer's death on 3 May, 1897, Athaline appeared in the Howard County Probate Court to settle his estate. A record of the Court's action is in Probate Book Y, p. 499, No. 2387, and reads:

BLUMER P. SALLEE:

> Comes now Athaline M. Sallee widow of Blumer P. Sallee and files her petition herein showing that the estate of said decedent both real and personal is not worth $500.00 and praying therein that the same be vested in her as widow And the Clerk of this Court now appoints John W. Hancock to act in concert with Abram J. Covalt selected by said widow appraisers to appraise said estate and comes now said appraisers and an appraisement herein follows (Insert) by and from which it appears that said Estate both real and personal is not worth $500 the same having been appraised by said appraisers at $174.00 and said cause is now on motion submitted to the Court and the Court having examined said petition and appraisement does now grant the prayer of same and does now order that the same estate be vested in said widow free from any claims of the creditors of said decedent.

Howard County Health Department Record 225, H - 20, p. 21 records the death of Athaline and gives the name of her father as Edward Level. The Kokomo Daily Tribune for 20 May, 1909, p. 4 carried the following brief account:

WEST LIBERTY

> Grandma Serlee, who lived here a number of years, died at her home Monday morning at the age of ninety years. Interment in Ellis cemetery Wednesday.

Ward Kilgore, who married her granddaughter, described her funeral to the writer, and remembered having seen Henry Hardin Sallee and his son, Webster I., in a carriage in the funeral procession.

There are no records of land transfers by this couple in any of the five Indiana counties in which Blumer lived, and to date they have not been found listed in either the 1860 or 1880 census's. It would appear that Blumer was either a tenant farmer or a farm laborer, possibly listed in the household of the owner of the land. There are conflicts in the records which have been found, especially for Athaline, but most of the essential facts seem firmly established. Chapter VIII contains what is known about the pedigree of Athaline M. Leavell.

Since Blumer died intestate, and no family Bible has been found, the names of the children come primarily from a list prepared around 1935 by their youngest child, Nancy Ellen Sallee John. Her list has been checked, corrected in a few places, and supplemented from other sources. For example, there was no indication in her list that Blumer had been married twice and that Linsey and Margaret were the children of the first mother.

The army record for Linsey M. Sallee gives his precise birthdate and states that he was born in Decatur county, Indiana. However, the earliest record of him was the 1850 census (see above). The next records are two letters written by him 21 August, 1864.[1] On 4 October, 1865, he purchased from Green and Garver 40 acres, NE quarter of NW quarter of Section 25, Township 22, Range 4, for $450 (Deed Book P, p. 215). A letter written 26 March, 1866, expresses dissatisfaction with this land, so it is not surprising to find that he sold it to Matthew Lyons for $340 on 12 December, 1867 (Deed Book P, p. 252). Linsey was listed as the head of a household on p. 19 of the 12 June Census for Tipton county:

A newspaper clipping written several years later reads:

> Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Salee lost two children recently with diptheria, the deaths occurring only five days apart. The little girl was aged seven and the boy five years Mr. Salee can't account for the disease getting into his family as they kept their children close at home neither one of them having been away for about two months previous to their deaths.

The letter of 27 February, 1892, by Nancy Ellen Sallee John contains the following about Linsey:

> .....you know Linzey and us has to help Pa's some. Linzey has got the rheumatis in his left leg so bad he cannot use his leg. they have to move his foot for him he cannot walk with out crutches I was down there last Wednesday he said for me to tell you about his condition.

Other information about this family is given on the family group sheet. Note that all the children were married in Tipton county.

Six records of Margaret Jane (2 - 2), the second child of Blumer and Margaret McClintock Sallee, have been located. The first, the 1850 census has been mentioned previously. The second record, a letter written from Indianapolis 11 October, 1868 (or 5) by her first husband, Casper A. Gipson, to Henry H. Sallee, contains an explanatory note by the latter which does establish the relationship between the two men. Gipson served three years in the Union Army and reenlisted in January, 1864. The 1870 census for Tipton county, p. 79, and the 1880 census for Boone county, p. 23, are the next two records and show:

Gipson, Margaret	27	b. Ind.	Edmund Snodgrass		54
Charles	3	"	Margaret		37
Lucretta	1	"	Samuel		27
			William		21
			Lewis		18
			John		15
			James		1
			Infant		1/12
			Dora Gipson		10

It is not known what happened to Gipson. Apparently, it was several years before Margaret became the second wife of Edmund Snodgrass to whom she bore four children. The court action in 1884 which is mentioned on Page 3 is the next record of Margaret. Finally, the writer has a picture of Margaret, Henry H., and Nancy Ellen Sallee John which is undated but which appears to have been taken after 1910.

Rupert Kilgore, a teacher at Illinois State Normal, Normal, Illinois, wrote in 1 January, 1970:

> I remember Aunt Mag Snodgrass visiting us and Grandmother while my mother was still alive.....Her son, James, by her second husband was a public school teacher and principal (I think) in Brownsburg, Indiana, for many years. He was one of the influences that led me into the teaching profession. He and his wife visited Grandmother occasionally when I was in high school. I think his wife's name was Nell. Susan Ferguson's husband's name was Sam and she was called "Sudie".

Moses Edward "Ed" Sallee (2 - 3) was the third child on the 1850 census of Blumer's family. The next records of him are a series of five letters written to Henry Hardin from the army during the Civil War. His war record is included in this account. He was listed on Page 76 of the 1870 census for Tipton county as follows:

Sallee,	Moses	age	24	Farm laborer	b. Mo.
	Emaly		21		Ind.
	Francis M.		30		"
	Mary L.		9/12		"

Obviously, the age of the child, Francis, was three not thirty. Moses wrote Henry H., from Windfall, 18 March, 1876.

His daughter-in-law, Maud McInturf wrote:

> My first husband (Earl) died in 1930 the largest funeral that was ever held at Courtland Ave Church.....I only knew his mother. His father Ed lived in Tipton they had four boys and 2 or 3 girls.....there was Dave, Earl, Ted, and Roy (? Ray). The girls was Anna and Cora. Earl's mother lived to be eighty eight.

Most of Ed's descendants live in or near Kokomo, however, one daughter was married in Tipton county and one son, Dave, lived there. Dave's son, Dott, in a letter written from Muncie where he removed after he retired, confirmed some data. His letter reads in part:

"I was born in '99 and never seen my Grandfather Ed Sallee. Always heard Grandma Sallee say that he was killed instantly when a runaway team of horses threw him from the wagon. Grandma--Emily Hopkins was her maiden name--died in Kokomo.....Grandma lived with (Carrie) & Dora after she got where she couldn't live alone."

From his letter, Mrs. McInturf's letter, and the genealogy prepared by Nancy Ellen Sallee John, the family group sheet for Moses Edward Sallee was prepared. The following of the next generation is probably accurate but may not be complete, since there are four of Ed's children for whom no offsprings are known.

Emily Frances Sallee (2 - 5), the fifth child of Blumer and Athaline's children, has not been located on any record except Nancy Ellen's genealogy. This is odd because the members of the family frequently mentioned Vawter's as relatives. John Miles Vawter, Emily's husband, was buried in the Prairieville Cemetery, Tipton County. Nancy Ellen reports five children for this couple, namely:

John Martin
Oliver Wesley
James
George Perry
Frances m. ——— Cox

Nancy Ellen Sallee John (2 - 7) was the only child of Blumer and Athaline other than his grandfather whom the writer ever saw. She was tiny, weighing around ninety pounds, and perky. A picture of her has been mentioned. He also has a picture of her gravestone. She was buried across the road from Knox Chapel where the father of Orville and Wilbur Wright was pastor when the boys were small. Except for a letter she wrote to her niece, Myrtle Onor Sallee Bolton, on 8 Dec. 1942, the family group sheet shows most of what is known about her family. The names of three, possibly four, of her grandchildren are known. Cecil and Adah Leisure John had two daughters, Dorothy and Louise. Mrs. Riggs, whose husband operates a filling station and garage in Point Isabel is a granddaughter. She may be one of the two daughters of Cecil. Ward and Golda John Kilgore (2 - 7 - 5) had a son, Rupert, who was interested in genealogy and contributed several items about Blumer's descendants to this record before his death in July, 1971.

It should be noted that the aim of the research was to make as complete a pedigree as possible. The material on collateral lines was acquired in the process. In this instance, many of those named in this chapter were contacted in a search for the family Bible of Blumer and Athaline. Unquestionably, more data exists on these lines. However, it is hoped that, though incomplete, these accounts will be of help to some unknown distant cousin.

CHAPTER III, MOSES SALLÉ (SALLY, SALLEE), NO. 4

According to the census's taken for Boone county, Indiana, 7 September, 1850, p. 276, and 11 July, 1860, p. 123, Moses Sallé was born in Virginia before 11 July, 1797, and Jane Tudor was born in Kentucky between 11 July and 7 September, 1797. Moses was included among the children of his parents in the 1810 census for Madison county, Kentucky, who had purchased a farm there in 1907. The marriage bond for Moses and Jane, a copy of which follows, is dated 18 May, 1816. It contains the names of both fathers. It is interesting in that in the body of the document, the surnames of the groom and his father are spelled Sally, but when they signed it, they spelled their names Salle.

The next record of Moses and Jane is the purchase of several items during the sale of the personal estate of Blumer Tudor on 2 April, 1821. Following this is a record in Madison County, Kentucky, and dated 27 September, 1823, Deed Book Q, p. 34, which was a transaction resulting from settling this estate. The last transaction involving Moses and Jane resulting from the settlement of Blumer's estate was a final deed for the sale of land which was partially owned by them (Deed Book V, p. 94, 10 April, 1833). At this time, however, they had removed to Decatur county, Indiana. Part of the above documents are reproduced in Chapter VIII.

There are several records of Moses, Jane and their children in Decatur county. The first two happened in 1827. In August, they were two of the founders of a church.

> The Liberty Baptist church was the third of the denomination to be organized in Decatur county and dates from 1827. In that year nine members met in the home of Charles Taylor, three and one-half miles west of Greensburg, on the second Saturday of August. The original members were Obadiah Martin and wife, John Whitlow and wife, Thomas Keel and wife, Moses Sally and wife and Andrew Nicholas.[1]

A photocopy follows of a deed dated 2 October, 1827, which records the purchase of a 40 acres farm. This land was sold to Levi Cline for $400. The 1830 census for Decatur county, p. 40 has the following record of this family: Males: 5-9 1, 10-14 1, 30-39 1; Females: 10-14 1, 30-39 1. During the decade which followed, all three of their children were married.

Apparently, Moses and Jane had purchased more land during this period for on 28 September, 1839, they transferred forty acres to Henry Jackson Sallee for one dollar. On 19 August, 1840, Moses bought 42.56 acres from Jacob and Rebecca Francis. Photocopies of both deeds follow. The 1840 census lists Moses, Jane, and Blumer on p. 447; J. H. Holmes and Charity are listed on the same page; and Henry and his family on p. 345. The census data for the two older children will be given when they are discussed later. For the parents the census has: Males: 20-29 1, 40-49 1, Females: 40-49 1. It is assumed that the younger male is Blumer, but since he was married in 1838, it could be some unidentified person. On 29 September, 1847, Moses and Jane sold their Decatur county farm to Richard G. Eldridge, and, as mentioned on Page 35, in 1850 they were in Boone county, Indiana.

The census record seems to indicate that Moses and Jane were living in the household of Henry Jackson Sallee. In any case, on 1 December, 1850, the three of them made a joint purchase of 75 acres in Boone county. Sixteen days later, Henry J. sold his farm in Decatur county. Nearly two years later on 16 September, 1852, the following is recorded in Boone county Deed Book I, page 267:

MOSES SALLEE to HENRY J, SALLEE

This indenture witnesseth that Moses Sally and Jane Sallee wife of the said Moses Sallee unto Henry J. Sallee in consideration of three hundred dollars to them paid by Henry J. Apparently there were very close ties between the parents and their older son, However, they were no longer living with the son when the 1860 census was taken; in fact, they were nine pages apart.

Five other records have been found of Moses. On 2 October, 1851, he purchased from Jacob Kyser four lots in Berlin, Clinton county, Indiana. Berlin was platted and named in 1847, but no town ever grew there. He sold three of these lots to John Needham on 2 September, 1853. In a letter written to Henry Hardin Sallee by his brother, "Ed", on March 23, 1864, is the following:

> I got a letter from grand father and he said they was all well and Moses W. Sallee came from home yesterday and he said they was well

On 31 October, 1868, Blumer's daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, enclosed a letter to her grandfather in a letter addressed to Henry Hardin Sallee at Pittsboro, Hendricks county, which reads as if he were still living in Indiana, but Henry states in a note that he visited them in Kansas in 1870. This is confirmed by an 1875 census of Howard county.. Moses was again living with Henry J. Jane must have died since she was not listed.

The search for information about Moses, Jane, and their son, Blumer, uncovered some data about Henry Jackson Sallee (4-1). The earliest mention was his inclusion in the census for 1830. Next was the record of his marriage to Frances A. Gully on 7 October, 1834. The 1840 census for Decatur county lists this family on p.345 as follows: Males; 0-4 2, 20-29 1; Females: 0-4 1, 20-29 1. Then came the record of the deed of a farm by the parents. The final record from Decatur county was the sale of his farm in December, 1850, mentioned above. The same month was the joint purchase of the farm in Boone county. The 1850 census is a more important record because it is the chief source of information about the individuals who make up his family. The same is true of the 1860 census, so the two will be shown side by side on the following page. The Boone County Marriage Records contain information about three of the older children:

Moses Willard Sallee	m.	Juda A. Griffith	5 Sep. 1858
Lucretia S. Sallee	m.	Jefferson Bolt	12 May, 1863
Eliza M. Sallee	m.	Hiram A. Parsons	2 Nov. 1864

According to the 1875 census, Lucretia S. Sallee Bolt and two children were also living with Henry J. Sallee as were four younger children belonging Records of three other transactions have been found for Henry J. On 26 November, 1856, he bought Lot 4, Leache's Addition in New Brunswick from the sheriff for fifty dollars. On 21 October, 1859, Frances and he sold eighty acres in Section 5, Township 17 North Range One, East, to Thomas L. and James W. Gullee, quite possibly relatives of Frances. On 5 January, 1865, he sold 67.30 acres, Section 5, Township 17 North, Range One East, to Daniel Hall. Since we know Henry and his family did go to Kansas, it seems likely that at least, the six younger children went with the parents. The marriages indicate that the older children most likely stayed in Indiana. There are Sallee's in Pittsboro, Lizton, and Brownsburg (Hendricks County) whose limited knowledge of their ancestry suggests that they might be descendants of Henry Jackson Sallee. In his attempts to trace Moses, the writer attended a Sallee reunion in 1971 at Lebanon, county seat of Boone County. Everyone there seemed to be descendants of Moses Willard Sallee, third child of Henry J, and Frances.

Moses Willard Sallee (4-1-3) was mustered into the army on 1 February, 1864, at Indianapolis and was mustered out on 20 May, 1865, having served in Company H, 126th Indiana Volunteer Regiment of 11th Cavalry. He had not been in too long when the letter by his cousin "Ed" Sallee which was quoted on Page 44 was written. The letter goes on with this about Moses W.

> Moses W has got the mumps I was over to see him today and he was a taking them rite good his jaws was swelled the the biggest kind.....

A family group sheet for him follows. Most of the information was taken from the 1880 census for Boone county, p. 5, and from the obituary for him in the weekly Lebanon Pioneer of 5 October, 1922.

From the obituary one learns that Moses W., was brought to Boone county when he was eight (1847-48) and that he lived for years at Holmes Station, four miles southeast of Lebanon. Juda Ann Griffith Sallee sold twenty acres in Section 36, Township 20 North, Range 2 East, to John R. Cox 1874-75. Her will, dated 20 April, 1908, left most of her estate to Moses W., but all ten children were named indicating that all were living at that time. Moses was an invalid for thirty years and was bedfast for 22 of them. He lived in Lebanon with his son, David, for some time before his death. His funeral was held at the Milledgeville Church with burial in the Griffith Cemetery a few miles north of Lizton where their graves are marked by a large monument.

A detailed genealogy has been furnished for William Lawson Sallee (4-1-3-5) by his granddaughter, Helen Louise Sallee Fisher Van Pelt. He had three children by Ida May Leap and one by Mrs. Stator. A chart follows:

Little has been learned about the family of Moses Sallé's daughter, Elizabeth Charity "Cherry" Sallee Holmes. She is shown on the 1830 census (See p. 35) and her marriage to James Harding Holmes is recorded in Decatur County Marriage Book C, p. 74. They were married the day the license was issued, 7 October, 1834. They are listed on the 1840 census for Decatur county, p. 447, as follows: Males: 5-9 1; 20-29 1; Females: 0-4 2, 15-19 1. The age shown here does not agree with other records. In 1850 the couple were living in Boone county near her parents. The census listing on page 276 reads:

James Harding Holmes	35	farmer
Elizabeth Charity	32
William D.	15
Samantha	13
Rachael R.	11
Joel B. W.	7
Margery J.	5
Elizabeth C.	1

There is a letter written by her son, Joel B. W. Holmes to Henry Hardin Sallee from the army on 18 July, 1865. This is the last record found.

CHAPTER IV, HENRY SALLE, NO. 8

According to his granddaughter, Melissa, "Henry Salle.....was born of French parents, March 18, 1768, probably in Virginia....."[1] The 1850 census for Montgomery county, Missouri, p. 346, shows:

Henry Sallee	age	80	born in Virginia
Martha		73	"
Elizabeth		47	Kentucky
William Henry		38	"

Note that the age is less than Melissa's date would give. This is the only precise statement of the age of Martha, Henry's wife. Later in Miss Ireland's account, she calls her great[2] grandmother Patsy Bundren. No record of the marriage of Henry and Martha has been found, but a Henry Salle paid tithes in Buckingham county, Virginia, in 1793, so they probably were married in the year preceding.

In 1807 Henry and Martha purchased 100 acres on Silver Creek in western Madison county, Kentucky. Stephen Sallee, who seems to have come from Buckingham county also, lived nearby. There is considerable evidence that Stephen and Henry may have been brothers. Henry's family was listed on the 1810 census:

Age	Males	Females
0- 9	2	3
10-15	1	0

Note that there is a daughter at least sixteen, agreeing with the probable date of marriage of the Buckingham county Henry Salle. Miss Ireland credits her Aunt Jerdenia, who lived with the grandparents for several years, with the names of their eight children: "Aunt Frankie Barnhill, Aunt Sally Weathers, Aunt Rhoda Leavelle, and Aunt Betsy and Uncle Moses, Uncle Isaak, Uncle Bill, and John, our father.". On 18 May, 1816, Henry posted bond for the marriage of his son, Moses, to Jane Tudor. In 1819 Henry and Martha sold their farm to Daniel Tudder, brother of Jane. The deed, which follows, has the name of Martha as "Patty" and Pattey". This is the last record of them in Kentucky which has been located.

On 5 April, 1825, Henry filed an original land entry for Section 36, Township 48, Range 6, Montgomery county, Missouri. All available evidence indicates they lived there the rest of their lives. In addition to the 1850 census which has been cited, they were listed on the two previous census's.

Age	1830	1840	1830	1840
Males	p. 219	p. 207	Females

50-59	0	0	1	0

On 18 September, 1847, they sold some, if not all, of their land, Section 4, Township 48, Range 4 west (Deed Book 63, p. 187). In 1850 they were living with their youngest son, William Henry; but since they are not included in his family group in 1860, it is probable that both died during the intervening decade. Two Montgomery county courthouses have burned and there is very little legal evidence which dates back to their time. As one result, there is not enough data to prepare a family group sheet. Specifically, there is no evidence about two of the daughters except the surnames of their spouses: Frankie Barnhill and Sally Weathers: and a statement that they lived somewhere not too far from Lucinda Jane Salle ———, whereever she lived. Efforts to locate these Barnhills and Weathers's have been unsuccessful.

There is evidence that Rhoda Sallee Leavell, No. 7, on the Pedigree Chart, was the oldest child. Next came Moses who was the topic of Chapter III. The third child was Isaac, apparently born in 1800, An Isaac Sallee of the proper age was listed on the 1830 census for Montgomery county on p. 221, two pages away from Henry. If he is shown on subsequent census's, he has not been identified. The fifth child, Elizabeth, was a spinster.

John Sallee (8-4) was born 17 August, 1802, probably in Kentucky, altho his grandson states Missouri. On 26 January, 1825, he married Sallie Clanton, daughter of Henry Clanton, who lived near Henry Salle. This couple were the parents of four girls:

Lucinda Jane	born	2 February, 1826
Martha Branch		9 July 1827
Melissa Hickman		15 April, 1829
Sarah Jerdenia		15 October, 1831

Parker has this to say about his grandfather and his family:

> .....on the 14th of May,1832, the mother died. These four girls were scattered far and wide, because the father still had the roving instinct and was unable to keep them together and did not marry again until many years later. They were brought up, therefore, under very different surroundings, but each with a full share of the hardships known to that Western world. In due time they scattered and lived in nearly all of the Western and Northwestern states, one of them being amongst the forty-niners or their immediate successors. They were all married, one of them thrice, another twice. They all raised large families and each lived to see grandchildren. They all lived to be more than eighty years of age, and one of them eighty-four years old at the time these lines were written was my mother.....[1]

Miss Ireland confirms this account:

> Sometime in 1831 Or '32, the John Sallee family "went overland" to Little Rock, Arkansas, where in May, 1832, the mother passed on leaving four little girls.....Small wonder that he brought them back to his parents in Montgomery County, Mo. Part of the time the family was together probably living with Henry Sallee but there seems to have been a time, perhaps several years when Melissa and Jerdenia were the only ones with the grandparents.[2]

Be that as it may, a John Sallee entered land in Montgomery County: Section 4, Township 48, Range 4, and a John Sally was listed on page 196 of the 1840 Census.

Melissa Sallee married (1) Washington Parker in 1847, son of Francis Warner Parker and Elizabeth Jones. They moved to Alton, Illinois, where another Francis Warner Parker was born 1 April, 1858. This man had a very illustrious career. He received an A. B. from Shurtleff College in his home town in 1878, an A. M. in 1884, and an LL.D. in 1903. He removed to Chicago in 1879, eventually making his home in Evanston. Alma Chapman and he were married in 1883. He was admitted to the bar in 1880. In addition to practicing, he was member of the Illinois House of Representatives, 1885-87. He served as Trustee of the University of Chicago, the Baptist Theological Union, and Shurtleff College. He married again in 1903 Margaret, daughter of Hon. John H. Kedzie. During 1917-18 Parker was director of the YMCA Divisional Area in France. He was a Mason. He died in October, 1923. His grandson, Watson Parker is a teacher of history at the Wisconsin State University in Oshkosh.

The first record of William Henry Sallee (8-8) is a land grant issued 3 February, 1834, Montgomery county, Section 1, Township 47. Range 6. His wife was Agnes Neal. They were listed in the 1840 census with a young daughter on page 74 near Henry and Martha. The 1850 census has been cited; the 1860 census names:

William Sallee	age	38	farmer	b. Ky.
Agnes		36		Va.
Mary (C?)		20		Mo.
James N.		18		"
William		16		"
Tanthy (female)		14		"
Albert		12		"

Their son, James Napoleon Sallee, was the great-grandfather of of William Lambert Leaverton through Arletta Louise Sallee (8-8-2-3). See the family group sheet for details. Arletta's daughter, Mildred Theodosia Morris, was born in Moline, Kansas, 20 May, 1901. On 5 April she married Lambert Ervin Leaverton. They were the parents of William Lambert Leaverton. Apparently the couple were divorced and she married a Mr. Courtney.

On Page 51, the name of Henry Salle's wife was given as Martha "Patsy" Bundren. Bundren is an Anglicized variation of Bondurand and the Pedigree Chart at the beginning of this book outlines the probable ancestry of Martha Bundren. The term "probable" is used because, in this instance, the courthouse in Buckingham county, Virginia, burned in 1869, so it is not possible to cite legal records, such as wills and marriage records, to prove her parentage. The evidence which seems to prove her ancestry is given in Chapter V, but some discussion of the Bondurant line seems desirable at this point.

If the Pedigree Chart is studied carefully, it will be seen that the writer is descended from a Dr. Jean Pierre Bondurant (He was a physician.) six times. Among his five children were:

John, who was Martha's grandfather;

Ann, who married James Faure, Sr., and was Martha's great-grandmother. This makes Martha's parents first cousins, once removed.

Frances, who married Pierre Salle and was Henry's grandmother.

So, Henry Salle and Martha Bondurant were second cousins and more. Then Moses, No. 4, and Rhoda, No. 7, were brother and sister, making Blumer Sallee and Athaline first cousins. These intermarriages are the result of the history of Manakintown, Virginia, which was settled by some 500 French Huguenots in 1700. Since this colony was small, the colonists spoke a different language than their neighbors, and their religious faith was different, intermarriages are quite understandable.

It is also understandable that the descendants of these Huguenots have formed The Huguenot Society of the Founders of Manakin in the Colony of Virginia. One result of these circumstances is that several publications are in existence which present an adequate account of the pedigree of Martha Bondurant so that all this pedigree needs to do is to demonstrate that she belongs among the descendants of Jean Pierre Bondurant. This will be done in the next chapter. A brief annotated bibliography follows which lists publications which contain accounts about the individuals who are believed to be her ancestors.

CHAPTER V, ISAAC SALLE, NO. 16, AND RELATED HUGUENOTS

The birth of Isaac Salle on 5 8ber, 1734, is reported by Brock.[1] The will of Pierre Salle, his father, dated 24 December, 1750, bequeathed 400 acres on Troublesome Creek, Albemarle county, to be divided equally between Isaac and his brother, Abraham. On May 8, 1759, he married Elizabeth Brian(t).[2] On 9 September, 1777, he was willed ten pounds by his mother, Frances Bondurant Salle. There is a record of a land grant for 333 acres in Buckingham county which had been created in 1761, in part from Albemarle county.[3] According to records of land assessments in Buckingham county beginning in 1782, Isaac had acquired a plantation (or plantations) with an acreage of 1261. The list of tithables for the same period shows Isaac reporting:

1782	2	1790	2, J. Bailey
3	0	1	3
4	1	2	1
5	2	3	1 (Henry Salle listed alone)
6	1	4	1
7	2	5	2
8	3, H.S., I. Goode	6	2, Isaac, Jr.
9	3, H. Salle, John Goode

In 1783, a Stephen Salle is reported but not near the listing for Isaac. Will Book 5, p. 352, has Isaac signing the will of John Burton as a witness, and he was involved in the will of William Smith, 2 October, 1800, in Chesterfield county. Finally, the 1810 census for Buckingham county has an Isaac listed:

Males:	0-9	1,	16-26	1,	45+	1
Females			16-26	2

This suggests that he was living with one or more of his children and that Elizabeth was dead. The number of tithables indicates there might have been as many as eight male children. the non-Salle names could have been either sons-in-law or employees. Certainly they had one son named Isaac; almost certainly one was named Henry; and possibly one named Stephen (The neighbor of Henry on Silver Creek in Madison county, Kentucky). Several Kentucky genealogists thought they were brothers. The family of Stephen will be discussed in Chapter IX.

2. Douglas Register, p. 42.
3. Virginia Land Office, Commonwealth Land Grants, Book 9.

Because the Buckingham county courthouse was burned in 1869 and all records were destroyed, it is not possible to provide legal evidence as to whether or not Henry Salle, No. 8, is the Henry Salle who, apparently, was the son of Isaac Salle, No. 16. The following facts indicate that he was.

1. The listing of Henry Salle as head of a family in 1793 is consistent with the fact that his oldest child was born between 1790-1795 according to the 1810 census.

2. Miss Ireland quotes her Aunt Jerdenia as saying:

   > The Henry Salle's were slave owners living on a 'large place'. Was it just a home, or a plantation, or farm? No one tells us but grandmother speaks of many negroes and extensive land.[1]

   Isaac's holdings fit this description best of the Buckingham county Salle's.

3. Apparently, Henry and Martha named three of their children after members of Isaac's family:

Frances	Isaac's mother
Isaac	Isaac
Elizabeth	Isaac's wife

4. Isaac Salle and Thomas M. Bondurant, apparent father of Martha Bundren, were first cousins and lived in the same area, so Henry and Martha would have had many contacts.

As point four above suggests, there is no positive proof that Martha was the daughter of Thomas Bondurant. However, there is a record of his family which follows.

1. Note that the fifth child, called Pollie, married a Salle and moved to Missouri as did Henry and Martha. This parallelism is quite convincing evidence.

2. The fact that the Bondurant record gives Pollie as the name of the daughter is counter-indicative because Pollie is usually a nickname for Mary. In this instance, the oldest child is called Mollie, also a nickname for Mary. Since Mollie, John, and James (siblings of Pollie) named a child "Martha", it seems very probable that "Pollie's" real name was Martha.

3. Again, several children of Henry and Martha were given Bondurant family names.

Rhoda	Pollie's mother
John	Pollie's brother and grandfather
Sarah	Pollie's sister
Moses	Pollie's brother-in-law.

4. The 1850 census gives Virginia as the place of birth of Martha, Henry, and their son, Moses.

These eight pieces of circumstantial evidence constitute a configuration which makes it extremely probable that Henry Salle and Martha Bundren were the children of Isaac and Elizabeth Brian Sallé and Thomas and Rhoda Agee Bondurant, respectively. These four individuals were grandchildren of Huguenot emigrants, so that portion of their ancestry will be disposed of briefly because genealogies are available for most lines.

Three photocopies of articles from The Huguenot follow which tell about the progenitors of Elizabeth Brian(d). The first describes

BRYANT
(Briand)

The earliest ancestor of the name Brian, Briand or Bryant, was Englebert I, Seigneur de Brienne, a Frenchman, who died in 990. A part of his family moved into England at an early date.

In the fourteenth century, one Guy de Bryan distinguished himself in both military and naval exploits in the reigns of Edward III and Richard II. In 1361 he was made Admiral of the King's fleet and elected fifty-seventh Knight of the Garter.

Sir Francis Brian was Governor-General of Ireland, and in 1549 Lord Chief Justice.

Stephen Briand, ex-noble Ministre to La Milliere near Versailles 1678 to 1685, refuged in Holland and was present at the Walloon Synode at Rotterdam in 1686. Stephen Briand was the son of Jacques Briand and the grandson of Isaac Briand and wife Marie Benoist. Stephen Briand's son Isaac settled in Broxton, England, Cheshire County, with other Huguenots. Isaac Briand's son, Jacques Briand, settled in Virginia, James City County, and Jacques's two sons, Jacques, Jr., and Charles Briand, settled with the Huguenots in Powhatan County, Virginia.

About 1740 these Briands anglicised the name to Bryant.

The most renowned of the French family are, Jean de Brienne 3d son of Erard 2d King of Jerusalem, Gauthier de Brienne, Duke of Athens despot of Florence, and Lemenie de Brienne, Cardinal and Minister.

LE FEVRE-BRYANT

James Bryan Sr. came to Manakintown, Virginia about 1700. He married first, Elizabeth LeFevre, daughter of Isaac Le Fevre, Huguenot Founder of Manakin, and second, Clara ..... There were 8 children of the first marriage and one of the second; 1, James Bryant Jr.; 2, Isaac Bryant, who received a wound in the head at the Battle of Guilford Court House, 1781; 3, Judith Bryant; 4, Elizabeth Bryant; 5, Mary Bryant; 6, Martha Bryant; 7, Ann Bryant; 8, Fannie Bryant; 9, Thomas Bryan, only child of second marriage, killed at Battle of Guilford Court House in 1781.

James Bryant Jr., son of James and Elizabeth LeFevre Bryant, was born 1720 and lived and died in Va. He married first, Jane Guerrant; and second, Jane Forsee, both wives being Huguenots. Four children by each marriage, as follows: 1, John Bryant, soldier of the Revolution; 2, William G. Bryant; 3, Jane Bryant; 4, Sarah Bryant; 5, James Bryant; 6, Stephen Bryant; 7, Silas Bryant; 8, Mary Bryant.

John Bryant, son of James and Jane Guerrant Bryant, emigrated to Kentucky in 1783 and married Mary Owsley (aunt of Gov. Owsley of Ky.) He was appointed Civil Engineer and surveyor by the Governor, and reared a large family. He was born in Cumberland Co., Va. Jan. 1, 1760, and died July 4, 1833. He was among the few early settlers of Ky. who had slaves. He served 15 months as a private and sergeant under Capts. Hughes and Porter, and Colonels Nelson, Randolph and Goode as a volunteer in the Virginia troops. He was engaged in the Battle of Guilford Court House. He applied for pension Aug. 20, 1832, at which time he was a resident of Garrard County, Ky. and 72 years of age. The pension was granted Aug. 22, 1832. He was a resident of Powhattan Co., Va. at the time of his first enlistment in May 1780. In his declaration for a pension, he mentioned that his second enlistment was a substitute for one James Bryant, and though the relationship is not stated, it was likely his father.

John Bryant married, in Lincoln Co., Ky., May 25, 1786, Mary Owsley, who died May 26, 1848. She applied for and received a pension after his death. At time of her death she had 15 children, 94 grandchildren, 108 great grand-children and 3 great-great-grand-children. Children: 1, James G. Bryant born March 3, 1787, died Feb. 13, 1840; 2, John Bryant born March 29, 1788, died Nov. 18, 1788; 3, George Smith Bryant born April 18, 1789, died Aug. 5, 1850; 4, Abner Bryant born Jan. 13, 1791, died July 18, 1820; 5, Elizabeth Bryant born Oct. 8, 1792, died Oct. 8, 1792; 6, Mary Bryant born Sept. 24, 1793, died June 9, 1814; 7, Edmund L. Bryant born March 4, 1795, died Sept. 28, 1865; 8, Thomas Owsley Bryant born April 30, 1796, died Jan. 27, 1845; 9, Jonathan O. Bryant born Jan. 15, 1798, died Sept. 25, 1879; 10, Jane Bryant born June 29, 1800, died Oct. 18, 1866; 11, Patience Bryant born Feb. 9, 1802, died Oct. 30, 1881; 12, John Bryant, second by the same name, born July 19, 1804, died Sept. 23, 1805; 13, Sallie Bryant, born Sept. 7, 1806, died April 24, 1878; 14, Daniel Bryant born June 30, 1809, died Sept. 26, 1871; 15, William O. Bryant Sept. 17, 1811, died May 23, 1851.

Bryant is an English name of very early origin and was first introduced by the Britons, who joined in the Norman Conquest, as a Christian name, a favorite in Brittany. Later, it became a common surname in both England and Brittany, being spelled in the latter as Briand. Brian de Brampton is in the Hundred Rolls of County Gloucester, A.D. 1273. Wydo Bryan in those of County Devon, and William Bryan is in "Kirby's Quest," Somersetshire, 1327.

The Bryant ancestors emigrated from England to Maryland as early as 1700. Since the first member of the family recorded in America, James Bryant Sr., married two women of Huguenot ancestry, it is believed that he first came to Manakintown, Va., a Huguenot settlement in Henrico County, soon after the Huguenots arrived about 1699. (Bardsley; "Dictionary of English and Welsh Surnames" Family data.)

her European background. Note the variation in the spelling of the name. Note also that there were four successive Jacques (or James) Bryants. Jacques Briand, No, 68, was designated Junior in the first article while his son, James Bryan, No. 34, is called Senior in the second article. Elizabeth's five sisters all married and their married surnames were:

Judith Street, Frances Forsee, Martha Lesueur, Ann Stinson, and Mary Christian. The second wife of James, Junior, was Mrs Anthony Trabue. The third article is a brief biography of Elizabeth's maternal grandfather, Isaac Lefevre, No. 70. His wife was Magdelaine Paranteau.

The Huguenot LEFEVRE Vol. 1

Isaac LeFevre came on the ship "Peter and Anthony" (Galley of London) to Manakin, Virginia, in the summer of 1699. In 1700, he and his wife are named in the List of Meal at Falling Creek Mill, "Ye Refugees to receive one bushel per head of meal monthly as settled in and about King Williamtowne." From tax records we gather that Isaac LeFevre was born in France in 1667, and died in Virginia after 1724. No will or administration of estate has been found, as all records of James City County were destroyed by fire in 1861. The Register of the Church of the French Refugees gives the name of his wife as Magdelaine. She was no doubt of French Huguenot blood, though no record of her parentage has been found as yet. The census of King William Parish of 1714 proves that they had one son and three daughters. The name of the son was Abram, and daughters, Magdelaine, Elizabeth and Judith. The Register of the Church of the French Refugees in 1724 records the death, on Sunday, of Magdelaine, daughter of Isaac LeFevre, and Magdelaine, his wife.

The name of Abram's wife was Catherine. Elizabeth married Jaques Brian, and Judith married Pierre Dupuy, son of Count Barthelemei Dupuy, 1722. Isaac LeFevre was elected instructor of Philosophy and Mathematics in William and Mary College, and served one year. After some difficulty with the Governor and faculty in regard to studies, he resigned. That M. LeFevre was held in considerable esteem in the Colony is shown from the fact that he was called upon to verify some records and maps of surveying of Surveyors to the Royal Governor. In 1724 he seems to have been a resident of Jamestown near the capital of Williamsburg. The reference to the Royal Governor summoning M. LeFevre to pass upon the work of the surveyors shows that he resided near the capital. His only son, Abram LeFevre, resided in Augusta and Washington counties, Virginia. In September, 1785, Abram LeFevre and Catherine, his wife, deeded land to John Jameson, Washington County, Virginia. Deed Book 1, p. 444. In 1785, Abram LeFevre appears on the Tax List of Washington County, Virginia, as owning considerable land.

July 14, 1789, Abram LeFevre gave Power of Attorney to Abram LeFevre, Jr., the former of Augusta County, Virginia. Deed Book 1, p. 235.

Arms: Az. 3 crosletts or. Crest: A stag's head proper.

In addition to her father's Bondurant line, Martha was descended from three Huguenot emigrants: Mathieu Age, Mary Ann Chastain Faure, and Isaac Gaudovin. The will of her great-grandfather, Dr. Jean Pierre Bondurant, is included in this chapter because it establishes several of the complicated relationships in this pedigree. Omitted was Pierre's bequest to his daughter, Ann. Observe, James Ford, supposedly her husband, and John Bondurant, Martha's grandfather, were two of the witnesses. Following the will will be two Huguenot articles about the Agee's. Then there will be a family group sheet for Pierre Faure and another Huguenot article about his parents. Judith, the second wife of Pierre, seems to have been a daughter of Isaac Gaudovin not Joseph Bingili as claimed by some writers. A letter from Louis Agee dated 29 May, 1973, will be quoted to support the line shown here.

FORE

L'Veuve Fore and her four children came to Virginia upon the ship "Mary and Ann," landing the twenty-third of July, 1699, and were among the Founders of Manakintowne. The husband died either upon the voyage or just before the ship sailed. The sons were Jean and Pierre Fore. Pierre married Judith the daughter of Joseph and Judith Bingili. The children of Jean Fore, as far as known, were Jean, born December 12th, 1723, and Jacques, born about 1715. The children of Pierre and Judith were Jacques, Pierre Jr., born about 1719; Joseph, born May 21st, 1727, and Daniel, born about 1710. Among the distinguished descendants of this family are Mrs. Mary Rodman Southerland, wife of Admiral W. H. H. Southerland, U. S. N., and Admiral Hugh Rodman, U. S. N. Both also are Duppy-Trabue descent.

It is my desier thatt my son Peter Bondurant have his shair of land on the S+E end of Agee Branch and my son John Bondurant and my son Joseph Bondrant to have their shair on the S+W of my Branch to equal devided (?) between them according as the lines goeth and to have the liberty of cuting any pine or pine tree upon my son Peter Bondrant land for their youse.

At a Court held for Goochland County Jany 21st 1734 This Will proved by the Oaths of John Cook ? James Ford two of the witnesses hereto and was admitted to Record.

Test. H. Wood Cl Cur

It is interesting to notice that even this early generation was in the process of changing the name. This will was copied from a photo-copy of the original record in the Archives Section of the Virginia State Library, Richmond, by Bernice Sallee Martin. Note that according to our calender the will was proved in 1735. See also, Epling, p. 43.

There is very little material on John Bondurant. Apparently he removed to Albemarle county in the part which became part of Buckingham county. The chief proof that Thomas was the son of John is the record of the survey of a platt "surveyed the 9th day of May 1794 by the direction of Thomas Bondurant for his brother Richard Bondurant".

MATHEW AGEE

Drawn from original French Coat of Arms by Helen Agee Moore, Independence, Missouri.

Mathieu Agee, or Age, is the progenitor of all the Agee family in America. He was born in France in 1660, and died in Virginia in 1735-40. He was of the Des Ages of the old Bishopric of Saint Malo, in or near Nantes, France, who were of noble birth. On account of their espousal of the cause of the Huguenots, their claim to nobility was abrogated and their lands confiscated in 1688, as were the titles and lands of many Huguenots and other non-conformists. Mathieu Agee's father's name is not certainly known, but was probably Julien Des Ages, of Saint Malo, commander of the sloop of war, Saint Antoine.

There is a well founded, and we believe true, tradition, which has been handed down from generation to generation, which states that Mathieu Agee left France in 1688, going to Holland where he, with some two thousand Huguenots, attached himself to William of Orange and was a part of the expedition to England, where William dethroned the then Catholic King James, and himself assumed the duties of the Crown.

Mathieu Agee came to Virginia from England in 1690, and in recognition of his service, was granted extensive tracts of land by King William. Later he became one of the founders of Manakin, in the Colony of Virginia, and was long time vestryman in King William Parish. He was a man of sterling character and winsome personality, possessing strong business ability. He assumed the duties of citizenship in a new land with dignity, courage, and fortitude, and successful life naturally ensued.

The wife of Mathieu Age was Ann Gaudovin, sister of Judith, wife of Pierre Faure. This family changed the spelling of their name to Godwin. The letter from Mr. Louis Agee, mentioned on page 66, said:

> Isaac Gaudovin was naturalized in 1704 along with other Manamin French.....His will was probated in Cumberland Co., Va., in 1749, leaving his "holdings" to his wife, Anne, with reversion to his Granddaughters, Judith Agee and Judith Faure. [It was] described as Isaac Godwin's will and signed Isaac Gandwin X his mark. The name Gaudovin does not appear in King William Parish Records, so I suppose he lived in nearby Southam Parish. Mathieu Agee witnesses his will.....I have heard there were deeds recorded in Henrico Co., by Isaac Gaudovin ca 1700.

"Pleasant" is given as the surname of Anne, wife of Isaac, on page 331 of The Garrett Book. As the following photocopy shows, the name appeared in later generations. The writer was unable to identify an Ann Pleasants who could have been the wife of Isaac Gaudovin.

GENEALOGY, WILLS AND COURT RECORDS

AGEE

James Agee, son of Mathieu Agee, Huguenot immigrant, was a man of fine reputation, and stood for that which was good and upright in his community. He and his wife had a long life together, seventy-five years of wedded life, and both died the same year, namely, 1821, having lived in the same house all these years. Their home was a meeting place for the neighborhood, and religious services were conducted there from time to time, a custom prevalent in pioneer days when church meeting-houses were anything but numerous. Bishop Asbury, the first Methodist bishop from England, conducted meetings there. James Agee was a large landowner and a successful man. He served his country in the Revolutionary war, as did his son, John Agee. Many of his descendants still live in Virginia as well as in Kentucky and Missouri. His Missouri descendants are not limited to those of his son, John Agee, but of other sons and daughters. It is a heritage of which we descendants should be proud, and, although we must shape our own destinies, yet it is good to have a noble ancestry; if we love our children, their children and our posterity yet unborn, we should none the less love and revere our ancestry, emulate their good qualities and avoid their mistakes, if any. It cannot be denied that heredity plays a great part in our lives and its influence has been scientifically proven, hence we are glad that ours is such as it is. The love of family, the loyalty to our country and the adoration of God should be no less prevalent in our lives than in the lives of these early pioneers, whose labour and sacrifices made possible the enjoyment of our present-day civilization. Elizabeth Ford, the wife of James Agee, was also a French Huguenot descendant and no doubt possessed the same sturdy characteristics as those of her husband.

John Agee was the fourth son of James and was born, lived and died in Virginia. He married Sicily Ann Hall, who had a long line of noble as well as royal ancestors, thirty-two generations having been recorded.

Pleasants Ford Agee was the fourth son of John Agee. He was born in Virginia, married there and came to Missouri about one hundred years ago. He married Mary E. Thomas, daughter of Elliott R. Thomas and wife, Mary Polly Trent, who was the daughter of Captain Thomas [illegible]

An interesting fact about the Ann Pleasants, mentioned in the preceding paragraph, is that she and Sarah Rachel Tayloe, wife of John Bondurant, are the only English ancestors of Moses and Rhoda Sallee. All the others are French Huguenots. Like the Pleasants, the Tayloes were a quite prominent family in colonial Virginia. Again, the writer has been unable to connect Sarah Rachel with any branch of the Tayloe family.

Perhaps the most important family from an ancestral point of view, the Chastain's, has hardly been mentioned because the relationships were established in France. The following quotation from A Book of Garrets, p. 81, shows that four sisters were ancestors of Moses and Rhoda. Because if intermarriages among their descendants, abouth three-eights of their ancestry was Chastain.

"There is a great deal of disagreement among Chastain descendants concerning the ancestry. The chart as given by Mr. P. M. Agee, former President of the Huguenot Society, is as follows: John Francis Chastain md Frances Jane Reno (Regnault, ReNault) dau of Chas and Ann Reno. They had the following children:

1. Elizabeth Ann Chastain md Dr. Jos. Bondurant. They were the parents of the Huguenot, Jean Pierre Bondurant;
2. Mary Ann Chastain md Daniel Isaac Faure (Fore, Ford);
3. Judith Chastain md in France Anthony Agee (parents of Mathieu Agee, Huguenot emigrant);
4. Charles Chastain, to Va.;
5. Frances Jane Chastain md James B. Bryant, Sr.;
6. Peter Jacob Chastain md Mary Magdalen Rochefaucauld. He md 2nd Mary Magdalen Verreiul, widow of Sr. Anthony Trabue, Sr."

ERRATUM

As mentioned on page 66, the will of Jean Pierre Bondurant as presented on pp. 67-68, preserves the interesting phraseology and spelling, but omits one item:

ITEM, I give and bequeath to my daughter Ann Ford one heffer 18 mos. old and one cow and pigs to her and her heirs forever.

CHAPTER VI, JEAN PIERRE PERRAULT SALLÉ, NO. 32

This chapter will give only such details about Pierre Sallé as seem necessary to establish the relationships between him and the Isaac who was the father of Henry Sallé. The full name, given above, comes from the notes of Jack T. Lyons.[1] Only Pierre is used in his will and all other records which have been examined. His will, the will of Frances Bondurant Sallé, his widow; and a family group sheet contain most of the necessary data.

There were three Isaac Sallé's who seem to have been contemporaries. One was the great[2] grandson of Abraham, the emigrant, and lived in Chesterfield County; another was the son of Guillieaume and Magdalen Chastain Sallé; and the first son of Pierre. The last two both lived in Buckingham county so, determining which Isaac is involved is difficult. On 10 December, 1745, there was recorded a survey of 400 acres on Troublesome Creek of Slate River (At that time in Albemarle County) for Pierre Sallé.[2] Unquestionably, this was the land which Pierre's will divides equally between his sons, Isaac and Abraham. Note that six children are named in Pierre's will, but that Abraham and Judith are omitted from the will of Frances. This seems to indicate that they were dead, and that they had left no heirs. This evidence seems to identify Isaac Sallé, No. 16, as the son of Pierre and Frances.

sources, especially genealogies of the Agee and Maxey families and Latter Day Saints Archives.

Abraham Sallee (32-4-1) was on a Bracken County, Kentucky, tax list dated 22 November, 1799. On September 8-9, 1805 Abraham Sally represented the Bracken Baptist Church at an assembly at Ohio Locust. The History of Marion County, Missouri, page 763, tells of William Sallee, born 22 September, 1796 in Bracken County, Kentucky, son of Abraham and Lucy (Haden) Sallee of Virginia. Mr. amd Mrs. Sallee have eight children of whom three, Thomas W., Lucy, and Martha A., are now dead. Those living are William Dunn, Robert S., John F,, Ada, and Lindsey F. Only William was listed on the 1850 census.

A family group sheet is given for William (32-4-4) and Elizabeth Smith Sallee. Two second names are given for William: Henry and Pierre. Which is correct is not known. Jacob Bondurant Sallee (32-4-4-2) was the father of two sons: William Edward Sallee, born, 1832, and James. William removed to Clay County, Missouri, before the Civil War. When the war broke out, he joined the Confederate army. They had no children. The younger son, James, had a daughter who married a Mr. Walraven and lived at Oak Grove, Jackson county, Missouri.[1] A family group sheet is also included for James Madison Sallee (32-4-4-12) who was the ancestor of Lawrence county, Indiana, Sallee's. His great-granddaughter through his son John Lemuel, Mrs. Bernice Sallee Martin, has been cited several times in this book for contributions. She has also contributed to The Huguenot.

Edward Maxey Sallee (32-4-7) and Elizabeth Magdalene Mosely are said to have had thirteen children.[2] She was born 8 June, 1790, and died 15 August, 1855. They removed to Calloway county, Missouri, in 1829. They are listed on the 1850 census as follows: (See Page 82.)

1. Nadine Rogers, professional genealogist, Kansas City, Missouri; author of several histories of Missouri.
2. Mrs. Charles E. Norton, 2724 Altadena Road, Birmingham, Alabama.

Nearby is listed their seventh child, John Perrow Sallee, for whom the following information is known. He was born in Kentucky 2 January, 1820. On 17 July, 1842, he married Judith Ann Robertson in Calloway county. He died 4 October, 1907; she, 22 February, 1872. They were the parents of nine children.

Edward Dingle, husband of Frances Jane Sallee (32-4-8), was the father of nine children. It is not certain whether the four last in the list were the children of Frances. Her daughter, Mary Polly Hardesty (32-4-8-5), died 30 July, 1883, at South Fork, Elko county, Nevada. Her husband, who was born in 1805 in Henry county, Kentucky, died 6 April, 1851.

Children of Edward Dingle and (in part at least) of Frances Jane Sallee:

Samuel	b. ca	1810	m. Nancy Woodget, 12 Apr. 1830
Carter B.	b.	1814	m. Nancy Ward
William S.	b. ca	1817	m.
John G.	b.	1820	m. Nancy Ward, widow of Carter
Mary Polly	b. ca	1812	m. Kinzie W. Hardesty, 1829
Nancy Catherine	b.	1832	A history of Audrain county, Mo., lists these nine children as the children of Edward Dingle. The repetition of names and the gap of at least ten years strongly suggest two mothers.
Mary A.	b.	1835
John	b.	1837
Louina	b.	1838

Children of Kinzie W. and Mary Polly Sallee Hardesty:

Benjamin Franklin	b.	1829	m. Martha Duesse
Sarah Ann	b. 20 Aug.	1831	m. James E. Menefee
Edward Carter	b. 7 Feb.	1833	m. (1) Sally Baldwin

Louisa Jane	b. 19 May,	1843	m. John G. Boettcher

The Family Group Sheet for Nancy Sallee Reynolds was compiled by Mrs. Wendell A. Reynolds. She presents some evidence that Henry's full name was William Henry and that his father was the John Reynolds who lived in an area of Green county which later became Adair county. She and her husband have visited the Reynolds cemetery which is located on the family farm which is owned by one of his descendants.

Below are the children of Jacob Bondurant Sallee and his second wife, Judith Trueman. Some writers have given the name of the second wife as Judith Garrott, daughter of Charles and Mary Elizabeth (Ayres) Garrott, who was born in 1757. The record of this marriage gives the name of the bride as Trueman. However, Judith would have been 28 at the time of this marriage, so it is quite possible that she was born Judith Garrott and had married a Trueman first. There were Truemans listed as living near Jacob Sally on 1773. Some information is presented for five of the six children of this couple. Note that they are numbered in sequence following the eleven children by Keren-Happuch. In this way they can be identified in the pages which follow.

16 Asahel: There is so much material on this man and his family that it seems desirable to make a family group sheet and follow it with lists of the children of his children. However, it should be mentioned that he is listed on the 1850 census for Montgomery county, Tennessee, p. 248, with five children. Other evidence indicates that he must have removed to Roaring Springs, Kentucky before his death. He is shown as a farmer on the census. Since the three children for whom birthdates are not known are not shown on the census, it is assumed that they were born before those shown on the census.

The birth of Joseph Albertus Sallé (32-5) was recorded in the Vestry Book of King William Parish. The Marriage Book for Powhatan county contains a record for six of his children. He furnished food for the Revolutionary Army on the basis of which D. A. R. membership was granted to Mrs. Pauline Trabue Grove Colwel. John Pankey of Manakin Town Va., and His Descendants has information about some of Joseph's descendants. The record of the settlement of his estate[1] states that a Richard Lafon signed the deed, presumably for the minor heirs of two deceased sons. Joseph died in 1827. He was married twice. His first wife, Jemima Maxey, was the daughter of William P. Maxey and Mary Elizabeth Sallé. She is said to have been the daughter of Charles de Sailly, one of the leaders of the Huguenot migration to Virginia and a brother to Abraham Sallé, No. 64. Mary Elizabeth was born 12 June 1718. The marriages of six of the children of Joseph are recorded in the Powhatan county Marriage Book. The page number is shown after each date.

CHAPTER VII, ABRAHAM SALLÉ, NO. 64, THE EMIGRANT

According to Jack T. Lyons, Abraham was the grandson of Isaac de Sailly who "was a Duke of France and a Baron of the Holy Roman Empire. He forfeited the Barony when he renounced Catholicism about 1660..... Of several children, John Calvin was the youngest, b. about 1654. His godfather was the King of France. John Calvin was born at St. Martin de Rhe, Aunis Province, France. He m. Mary Ann Janvier in Aunis Province. An Active Protestant, in 1681 he was forced to flee. With his wife disguised as a boy, he & his family fled by night to the coast & were smuggled out of thecountry. He went to London & settled where he died in 1691. In England, his name was signed Sallé.

"His 2 sons were born at St. Martin. The elder, Charles, in 1701 settled 500 Huguenots near Manakin Town, Va. He d. 3/1/1719. No other record of him.

"The younger son, Marcus Abraham, b. 1673, m. in London, Olive Olympia Perrault, 1699. He became an English subject & a Capt. in the English Army. In 1698 or 1700 he came to New York. In 1702 he moved to Va. & became the 1st magistrate of Manakinton. In 1709 he became Justice of Henrico Co., Va.....He died.....3/1/1720."[1]

There are too many records of Abraham for all of them to be included in this account. However, an attempt is made to include enough excerpts to give a general idea of him and his place in the Colony.

Baird[2] states that "Of the settlers of Manakintown, Virginia, from the Isle of Ré: Paul Bernard, Janvier, and Abraham Sallé, were natives of Ré". Further down the page, is this statement which probably identifies the church where Abraham and Olive were married:

> Phillipe Janvier, sa femme, trois enfans, fled to England from the Ile de Ré in 1683. Pierre Janvier and Marie Boynaux were married in the Swallow Street French Church, London, December, 1711. Thomas Janvier, the ancestor of all the families of Janvier in this country, was a Huguenot.

This is a partial confirmation of Janvier as the surname of Abraham's mother. Baird also states: "The children of Abraham Sallé and Olive Perault wife.....baptised in the French Church, were Abraham.....and Jacob."

"After the departure of De Sailly and De la Muce, the leaders of the first Colony, Abraham Salle seems to have been the principal man among the Huguenots at Manakintown. He was the first one of them appointed a Magistrate." He addressed a petition to George I, apparently in 1714, in which he requested the "prince.....to permit us to have some part in this solid and advantageous establishment which your Majesty intends to make in that country (Ireland) in favor of poor exiles."[2] The petition was not granted but additional land was made available in Virginia

Instead of a family group sheet, a list of Abraham's immediate descendants follows:[1]

I. Abraham Salle, Jr., b. Sept. 3, 1700 in New York City, d. 1731 in Henrico Co., Va., m. ca. 1720 Magdalen Amonet, who d. 1756 in Chesterfield Co., Va. Their children, as shown by the wills, church records, and other documents, were:

III. Isaac Salle is shown to have been b. 1703-4 by the tithables lists, and was still living Feb. 21, 1729/30, when he was godfather to one of his brother William's children (Brock, p. 83), but is mentioned as dead in his brother Abraham's will, dated Feb. 3, 1730/31 (Henrico D. & W. No. 1, p. 292).

IV. William Salle was born 1706-7 (first tithable 1723). He married twice, his first wife being named Elizabeth and his second Magdalen. His children by the first wife as shown by Brock were:
1. Elizabeth b. July 4, 1728;

6. Judith Salle b. Oct. 25, 1749.

VI. Olive Magdaleine Salle b. ca. 1710-11, m. 1728 Etienne[2] Malet.

Olive Perault, his wife, was born about 1678, and as the above census shows, was dead when it was taken about 1714. She is believed to have been related to Daniel Perrault, commander of the "Peter and Anthony" which brought 169 Huguenots to Virginia in 1700.[2]

* The declaration against transubstantiation, required of all assuming public offices in England and her colonies until in the 19th century. For the text of the oaths of abjuration and allegiance required of the vestrymen in the Virginia parishes in the 18th century, cf. Bishop Meade, II, 41, ff.

† The office of lecteur became much more important now that the death of Mr. Cairon had deprived the parish of the service of a regular resident minister; hence the two pounds increase in salary.

‡ Cf. contract with Mr. Cairon above. The price of wheat and maize seems to have fluctuated very little. Bruce, Economic History of Virginia in the Seventeenth Century, I, 380, gives the price of wheat, 1655 to 1682, as stationary at four shillings per bushel, shelled maize at two shillings during this period. The price of tobacco shows much more considerable fluctuations. Throughout this register wheat and maize are reckoned on the above basis. It is probable, however, that here as elsewhere in the colony, tobacco was the staple of actual exchange. Cf. Bruce as above, note. Only in the last pages of this register, after 1719, are the levies reckoned in pounds of tobacco.

On Pages 88 and 90 are statements that Charles de Sailly is believed to have been Abraham's brother and the father of Mary Elizabeth Sallé who married William P. Maxey. At least three items are known which seem to contradict this belief. First, there was no wife shown for him in the list of passengers on the "Peter and Anthony". Second, he seems to have returned to Europe before Mary Elizabeth was born in 1718. Finally, the de Sailley coat of arms and that shown for Sallé bear no resemblance.[1]

It is not known precisely when Isaac, the third son, died, but Will Book 1, p. 282, has record of a will for an Isaac Sallé, dated 1730. This seems to agree with the reference to his estate in the will of Abraham Salle, Junior.

Rather early in the attempt to learn Henry Hardin Sallee's pedigree, research activities were aimed at the first son, Abraham (64-1). The wills of Abraham[1] and his wife Magdalen follow.

1. Henrico Deeds & Wills No.1, p. 292.

At a Court held for Henrico County the First Monday in March 1730/1: Magdalen Sallé presented this Will upon Oath, and the same being Proved by the Oaths of the Witnesses thereto it was admitted to record, this Will being writ originally in French was translated into English by Doctor Giles Allegre who made Oath that the same was done according to his best Skill and Judgment..

Magdalen, wife of Abraham II, was the daughter of Jacob Amonet and Judith whose surname may have been Aubry. Magdalen died in Chesterfield county in 1756. Her will follows. The daughter, Elizabeth, who was the sole heir of Magdalen died 17 Nov. 1760.

As suggested by Abraham's will, a posthumous child was born some five months after his death. She was named Maryann. On 3 December, 1763 (D.R.142) she and Charles Clarke were married. They had one son, Charles, who was a lieutenant in the Revolution. Their home, "Keswick", is listed as one of Virginia's historic houses.

A family group sheet for the third Abraham follows. A few other items for this third family seem worth reporting. One was a deed from Abraham to Isaac Sallé of 878 acres on Swift Creek in Chesterfield and Powhatan counties for love and affection and ten shillings, 10 April, 1791, (Book D, page 20). Witnesses: John Sallé, James Bray, Daniel Buell. Will Book 6, page 73, contains the will of John Sallé, the other son of the family. He mentions: nephew George Frederick Sallé; children of his deceased sister, Judith Fowler; and those he might have by his present wife. Witnesses: Nancy Sallé, Isaac Sallé, and Joseph Mann. Records of marriages suggest that the following might be children of Isaac:

E. W. Sallé	m.	21 Dec. 1804	Richard Harris
Judith Sallé	m.	1 Feb. 1818	Thomas Vodan
Dr. Anderson Sallé	m.	25 July 1825	Sarah Michaels
Susan Sallé	m.	20 Oct. 1831	George N. Porter
Amaryllis F. Sallé	m.	11 Dec. 1839	Richard C. Wilkinson
Martha Sallé	m.	11 Jan. 1841	Wilson Winfree

Names on later deeds include: Corydon, George F., George L., John, Judith, Julian, Marcus, and Mary.

Guillieuame Sallé (64-4) married Elizabeth Givaudan in 1727. She died in 1739 after giving birth to four children, two of whom, Elizabeth and William seem to have reached adulthood. Several records of William, Jr., will be cited later. He seems to have served as constable for some time.

William Sr. married about 1740 Magdalen, the daughter of Pierre Chastain (Page 71). Magdalen was one of eight named in Pierre's will dated 3 Oct. 1728. (The others were: Jean, Pierre, Rene, Judith, Susanna, Mary, and Elizabeth.) A deed from the Cumberland County Deed Book 1, Page 151 describes the sale by William Solle and Magdalen Solle to David LeSueur of 115 Acres in Dale and King William Parish in Counties of Cumberland and Chesterfield on both sides of Mecham Branch adjoining the line of James Brians part of a tract of 574 acres granted Abraham Micham by patent dated November 2, 1705, sold to Renold La Force and by him to Peter Chastain and by him given to his daughter Magdalen (now wife of Wm. Solle). This is further evidence of the surname of Magdalen. A copy of the record of the sale of land by William in Goochland county on 19 March, 1744, follows.

Births of four sons to William and Magdalen are recorded in King William Parish. All are believed to have survived childhood. Since the family lived in Buckingham county, the tax lists are the chief source of information about them. William, Sr., William Jr., and a Moses Salley are listed in 1773. The 10 June, 1774 list has William, Sr., William, Jr., John, Hunt, and Olive Sallé. Only William Jr., and John are listed in most later years. However, in 1782, one of the two Williams named Stephen, George, Robin, David, Ben, and Betty Sallé as his tithables, and William was taxed for 700 acres. Magdalen is listed instead of William, Sr., in 1790. In a list of the members of King William Parish in June 1744, the following are named:[1]

William Sallé, George, Betty, Jenny, John Proan	5
Peter Sallé, Jemime	2
Magdalaine Sallé	2
Abraham Sallé	2

On July 4 1780, John, George, Philip, and William, Jr., Sallé received land grants in Kentucky. Twenty years later these four were listed as taxpayers. This group appears to consist of William, Jr., and three sons, but the John may have been his brother. Also in 1800, were two other Williams, Peter, Jacob, Oliver, and Stephen. Records have been accumulated for five of the last six men named and have been or will be discussed. Of this group, only Oliver is known to be a descendant of William, Sr.

Oliver Sallee's land grant was in Mercer county, Kentucky. He was in Mercer county by 1796. On 28 December, 1797, he purchased land on Chaplin Fork and in 1802 he asked for permission to build a grist mill. This is somewhat puzzling since he is said to have been a tailor. Two names have been given for his wife: Hannah and Sarah. A deed dated 30 March, 1787, reads "Oliver Salee and Sarah Sallee his wife and Anne Brumfield Tankersley.....of the one part and Samuel W. Venable and Abraham Venable" proves her name was Sarah. The will of William Johnston dated 28 November, 1774, identifies Sarah Sallee as his daughter and Anne Brumfield Tankersley as her mother and his wife. The following genealogy for Oliver and Sarah Sallee has been compiled from information furnished by several of his descendants. The greatest amount came from Mrs. Robert A. Brachman of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Mrs. Louis F. Ison, Harrodsburg, Kentucky, did much research for Mrs. Brachman. Generally, these records are well documented. Several generations of descendants are given for each of Oliver's four sons.

The oldest son, William Joseph (Johnston) Sallee (64-4-9-1) and his wife Polly Bottom were married in Mercer county. They were the parents of seven children, all born in Pulaski county, Kentucky. He was buried in the Old Sinking Creek Baptist Church Cemetery, Somerset. Their children were:

Nancy	Augustine
John Milton	Sanders J,
Elizabeth	Mary Ann	m.	Clauch
Joel Whiteside	b. 1818 d. 28 Feb. 1916

Enough information is known about the family of Joel Whiteside Salle to make a family group sheet. His son, George Perkins Sallee, was the father of Barthenia who was born 13 September, 1896, at Somerset, Kentucky. She married George Adams Joplin, Jr., on 12 December, 1923, at Somerset. He was born 8 October, 1895, at Altoona, Pennsylvania. He died 2 April, 1957, at Somerset. In her application for membership in the Huguenot Society, Mrs. Joplin provided proof of these data.

The second son, John Sallee (64-4-9-2), was the ancestor of Mrs. Brachman, and as a result there is much information about his descendants. Because there is not enough information about the various people, and since there are frequent repetitions in names, a listing of the names of the heads of the several families follows with an identifying number.

Stephen Sallé (64-4-9-4) was born about 1787 in Virginia. On 16 October, 1806, he married Polly Lockhart in Mercer county, Kentucky. He died in 1851 in Arkansas. The basic source of the information was Dean Wallace who was descended from Stephen as outlined below. Wallace claimed that this line had been approved for Membership in the D.A.R.

Stephen and Polly were the parents of two sons, Lockhart and Raney Chastain. Raney was born in 1811 in Kentucky. He married Martha Greene who was born in Indiana in 1813 and died in Missouri in 1873. Raney is supposed to have fought in the Blackhawk uprising and the Civil War. He is buried in the National Cemetery in Springfield, Missouri. Raney and Martha were the parents of James H. Sallee, who was born in 1833 in Washington county, Arkansas. Raney married Emarine Martin, who was born in 1844 in Bartholomew county, Indiana. James and an unidentified brother are supposed to have fought in the Civil War. Both Raney and Emarine died in Ozark county, Missouri, in 1912 and 1922, respectively.

Raney and Emarine were the parents of Leaven Thomas Sallee, born in Ozark county, Missouri, in 1884; and of Martha Sallee. Leaven Thomas was the father of William Everett Sallee and Lee Gore Salle. Martha was the mother of Dean Wallace.

Reynard Chastain Sallee (64-4-9-6) was married twice. His first wife, Mary "Polly" Horn, was the daughter of Phillip Horn. She was the mother of his first seven children. He married Sally Kittinger 28 November, 1827. He was murdered by Michael Horn, brother of his first wife, 24 December, 1838. Sally married Coleman Short 20 April, 1840. She was born 24 December, 1805, and died 21 April, 1895. There are many records in Mercer county about this family. Three are reproduced below.

CHAPTER VIII, NON-SALLEE ANCESTORS

Only eight of the ancestors of Henry Hardin Sallee who lived in America were named Sallee. This chapter will tell about some of the Non-Sallee's who made up the bulk of his ancestry. Eight pages (63-71) were devoted to Non-Sallee's in Chapter V. Almost all of them were French Huguenots who lived in or near King William Parish. The first family to be presented in this chapter was also French Huguenot in origin.

Edward Leavell Line

The founder of the Leavell family in the United States is believed to have been Jean La Levelle, P48[1], who was born in France in 1675. As did many other Huguenots, he went to England before coming to America. There are conflicting accounts of his emigration. One is that he settled in Caroline county, Virginia, in 1692; another gives Culpepper county in 1715. No serious attempt has been made to resolve these differences. John died in 1740. The will of James Leavell, written 17 October, 1775, leaves bequests to his mother, his sister, Nancy Pemberton; his brother, John Leavell, and his children; Edward Leavell; his brother William.....[2] This will was proved in Spotsylvania county 21 August, 1782.

Edward Leavell, P24, probably the oldest child, married Elizabeth Vaughn, daughter of Cornelius Vaughn. Edward's will, probated in the 1750's, names three sons: John, Edward, and James.[3] It is said that all three men served in the Revolution. There is record of a John Leavil (The spelling used in Edward's will) who served in the First Continental Line of Virginia, and of a James E. Leavell, organization not named.[4] The following sketch of the son, Edward, P12, and his family was taken from A History of the Pioneer Families of Missouri, by William S. Bryan and Robert Rose, 1876. It should be added that Edward Leavell lived in eastern

James married Rebecca Stinson, who cut the throat of a mad wolf, that had bitten her father, while he held it. Their children were—Margaret, Elizabeth, Jane, Julia A., William H., James M., Benjamin F., and Edward. Margaret married John Stephens. Elizabeth married Randolph Boone. Jane married Mr. Carnifix. Julia A. married M. B. Snethen. William H. was married three times. James M. died single. Benjamin F. married Sarah Nunnelly, and they had one child, James. Edward married Rhoda Sallee. Mildred, daughter of Edward Leavell, Sr., married Nicholas H. Stephenson, of Kentucky, and is now a widow in her 86th year. Mr. Stephenson and his family started to Missouri in 1813, on horseback, but after crossing the Ohio river they purchased a wagon and traveled in that some distance, when the roads became so bad that they could use it no longer. They then sold

The first legal record of Edward Leavell, P6, is 9 January, 1819, when he received a land grant: Section 17, Township 46, Range 5, Montgomery county, Missouri. His daughter, Athaline Mary Leavell Sallee, P3, was born 20 November, 1818, slightly more than a month before. This family was listed on page 219 Of the 1830 census and on page 203 of the 1840 census for Montgomery county. In both instances his wife, Rhoda Sallee Leavell is in the next younger ten-years bracket, agreeing with birth between 1793 and 1795 of the first child of Henry Sallé. It should also be noted that Henry received land grants quite near Edward Leavell in 1825. In both census's, a female child of the age of Athaline is included in the listing. She and Elumer Sallee, No. 2, were married 1844/45. Because the Montgomery county courthouse was destroyed by fire twice, early legal evidence is not available.

Several wills do exist for the distaff side of this line. The first in chronological order is for John Long, P106, who died 31 January, 1750. His legatees were: wife, Elizabeth; grandson, John Hawkins; daughter Elizabeth Hawkins; and granddaughter, Elizabeth Hawkins.[1]

1. Crozier, Ibid, p. 12. NOTE: The granddaughter, Elizabeth Hawkins, became the wife of Edward Leavell, P6. This item proves the Long-Hawkins- Leavell connection.

The second will is for Thomas Haydon, P108, who died 27 June, 1782, in St. George's Parish, Spotsylvania county, Virginia. The witnesses were: Richard Young, John Chew, Charles Proctor. Executors were: sons Jesse and Exekiel Haydon. The will provides:

> Legatees: son Jervey Haydon, tract of 100 acres, also part of land bought of William Fitzhugh, Esqr; grandson Abner Haydon, son of Jervey Haydon, one negro boy Sam, but if he dies without heirs, then I give the said negro to Jessey Haydon, his brother; son Jessey Haydon; son James Haydon; son Ezekiel Haydon; granddaughters Margaret and Sarah Haydon, daughters of Ezekiel Haydon; daughter Mary Haydon; grandson Ezekiel Haydon, son of John and Mary Haydon; daughter Grace Proctor; grandson John Proctor, son of George Proctor; son John Haydon; son William Haydon; daughter Sarah-Ann Millican; daughter Elizabeth Nelson; grandsons Haydon and William Nelson, sons of William Nelson; daughter Mildred Leavell.[1]

Wills are available for both Nicholas Hawkins, P52, and his wife, Elizabeth Long, P53. His probated 7 May, 1754, is found in Will Book B, Spotsylvania county, Virginia; hers, proved 4 December, 1764, in Will Book D. From these and Wulfeck[2] the following eight children are identified:

John Leavell Line

John Leavell (1720-1783) was the third child of Jean La Levelle, the emigrant. His son, also John Leavell, married twice, his first wife being Margaret Jones; the second, Frances Williams. He served in the Revolutionary War. About 1790 he removed to Kentucky. He was born in 1757 and died in 1826. Robert Leavell, son of John Leavell, II, was born in Virginia in 1776. He came to Kentucky with his parents > and in 1811 removed to Wayne county, Indiana, taking up a claim of 120 acres of land, upon which he located a part of the village of Jacksonburg. He served as a soldier in the war of 1812..... about 1831..... he moved to a place about one mile north on Hagerstown, where he purchased 231 acres of land.....[1]

Robert died in 1847. His wife, Sarah Leavell, was a second cousin. She was born in 1782 and died in 1857. They were the parents of ten children:

The Wayne County history gives a short biography of Benjamin Leavell. In January, 1841, he removed to Tipton county and settled on 160 acres of which he cleared 100 acres. His was one of the first brick residences in that county. He accumulated 340 acres of land before his death. His wife was the daughter of William and Martha Thornburgh, natives of eastern Tennessee who removed to Wayne county in 1816. She was born on her father's farm, three miles north of Hagerstown. The oldest child, John W. Leavell, was a very prominent citizen. Originally a tanner, he eventually owned 280 acres of land. In 1882, he was elected sheriff on the Republican ticket although the county was ordinarily Democratic. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity.

The Tudor-Turner Lines

Tradition has John Tudor, P20, coming to Newport News, Virginia, with one or two brothers. Supposedly, he removed forst to Baltimore and then settled in Brunswick County, Virginia. His son, John was born in North Carolina 10 October, 1754. According to records of The Colonial Dames of Virginia, some Tudors are descended from a John Tudor, who lived in New York City from about 1675 to his death in 1709.[1] A photocopy of the will of the North Carolina John Tudor follows. The John Morris named in the will was the husband of Phoebe Tudor. Three of his children are known to have removed to Madison county, Kentucky: John, Valentine, and Blumer. There are many records of these three men. Valentine's will is in Will Book K, p. 91, and was proved in 1852. He was constable for several years.

John Tudor's family is given first. He was born in North Carolina as stated above. On July 22, 1779, he married Martha Searcy. They moved to Madison county, Kentucky, in 1785. He died 10 January, 1838. Will Book F, p. 376, contains his will. North Carolina Pension Record S14733 proves his Revolutionary War service. At least five of his descendants have been admitted to the D. A. R. on his record. The family of one son, John Hooker Tudor is included in his family group. Family records indicate the son removed to Indiana. On 15 July, 1822, John married Frances Phillips in Garrard county, Kentucky. They had no children.

Since Blumer Tudor, P10, was the great-grandfather of Henry Harding Sallee, several records including a family group sheet will be included in this account. The next record of Blumer which has been found, was of his marriage 21 May, 1795, to Charity Turner. Apparentlt, Christopher Harris performed the ceremony.[1] In 1801/2 he purchased 97 acres on Silver Creek from John Bone. Seventy more acres were purchased in 1817. He also was a school teacher. It would seem that Blumer died in the fall of 1820 for the following record is found in Order Book E 1819-1827, p. 112.

> At a County Court held for Madison County on Monday the 4th day of December 1820 at the Court house in the Town of Richmond Present the worshipfull Robert Caldwell, Overton Harris and William everley, Gent.
> On the motion of Charity Tuder, widow and Relic of Blumer Tuder Dec^{d} Letters of Administration is granted to her in the Estate of said Blumer Tuder Dec^{d}. Whereupon she took the necessary oath as such and into and acknowledged her bond in the penalty of $1,000 with Thomas Turner Sr and Barnett Turner her security conditioned as the law directs.
> And it is further ordered that James Levil, Samuel Williams Anthony Phelps and Ebenezer Teters on any three of them who being first sworn do inventory and appraise the personal estate and slaves if any of said Dec^{d} and make reports to this court.

His widow acted promptly. The inventory was made and the personal property was disposed of, chiefly to members of the family. However, it was 9 June, 1833, before the final disposition of the real estate. The first record, found on page 34 of Deed Book Q, reads in part:

> This Indenture made and entered into this 27th day of September 1823 by and between Thomas Tuder, Jesse and Moses Salley, and Jane his wife of the County of Madison of the one part and John Tuder of said County and State of the other part, Witnesseth - that the said John Tuder has this day purchased of the said Thomas, Jesse and Moses Sally and Jane his wife all their interest in the estate real and personal of Bloomer Tuder dec'd they all being heirs of said Blumer and do by these presents in consideration of one hundred dollars to them in hand paid alien bargain and sell unto the said John Tudor all interest which thay are entitled to in said Bloomer's estate as a part of his heirs and distributees.....
> /s/ Thomas Tuder
> Moses Sallee
> Jane Sallee
> Recorded 27 September 1823 Jesse Tudor

Note that this transaction covered the shares of only these three heirs. Subsequent entries (pages 248, 321) record a mortgage for $146.25 by John and Jesse Tuder to Charity Turner Tudor which was paid 24 March, 1825.

The description of the 113 acres mentions the Gillead Meeting House in the cemetery of which many of these people are supposed to have been buried. The above deed is the chief record of the family of Blumer and Charity Turner Tudor.

Some additional information is known about their children. Thomas's wife's surname was Hunter, Jesse (b. 1822) married Polly Cunis, and Daniel's wife's surname was Byrum. Catherine Tudor Moberly died 18 May, 1839. Phoebe married Dr. Oliver P. Sallee 21 March, 1825. Betsy is said to have been feeble-minded. John Blumer Tudor and his family came to Indiana in 1840. Note that they lived near Moses and Jane Tudor Sallee. John Blumer was born 11 September, 1799 and died in Tipton county, Indiana, 25 January, 1865. He was buried in Hills Cemetery, near Pickard, Clinton County, Indiana. His wife, Mary M. Epperson, was born 14 August, 1803/4 and died at Berlin, Indiana, 13 February, 1863, and was buried in Hills Cemetery also. A list of their children follows:

On 31 January, 1786, Warrant #4102 was issued in recognition of three years service as sergeant. He lived west of Richmond, Madison county, Kentucky, on what later was known as the Crutcher place. His will which was written two days before his death, provides the names of his children. The several histories of Madison county contain accounts of this family.

Virkus has several statements of the pedigree of John Turner.[1] To date, only three references have been used to check the line given by Virkus and to learn more about it. These references have verified most of the data. As shown in the Pedigree Chart, the Turner family line is traced back three more generations to William Turner who migrated to Virginia from England. He removed to North Carolina before 1663 and died there in 1696. His son, William, married a Miss Nixon, and that is all that is known about him.

Edward Turner, P44, the father of John Turner, was listed on the tax list for Rowan county, North Carolina, for 1759.[2] He was a witness for three wills and executor for another,[3] but there is no record of a will for him in Rowan county. However, there was a will for Andrew Smith, P46, father of Rebecca Smith, the first wife of John Turner. Rebecca's son Andrew Turner was one of the heirs for an understandable reason. The executors were his brother, James Smith, and his son, Thomas. One son, Andrew, was under 21 when the will was proved. Here are the names of the children from the will:[4]

Cornelius
Thomas
Andrew
Catherine
Rebakah

James Davis died 8 May, 1765. His will names the following:[5]

Elinor, wife
James, John } executors
Samuel
Evan (lame)
Mary Enoch
Ann Turner, wife of Edward Turner

CHAPTER IX, UNCONNECTED SALLEES

Pierre Sallee, Wayne County, Kentucky

There was a quite numerous Sallee family in Wayne county, Kentucky, The following quotation presents the commonly accepted origin of the two principal families involved.

> Abraham Van Winkle, the first of the name in Kentucky..... belonged to the Dutch family who came with Governor Stuyvesant in 1647.....Abraham.....with his parents went to Virginia and thence to North Carolina where he married Miss Charity Sallee. He moved to Lincoln County, Kentucky in 1793, and thence to Wayne County.....The Sallees were Huguenots who were members of the group at "Manakan Town", near Richmond. A branch came down into North Carolina and thence to Kentucky. The first of the name to come to Wayne (county) was Peter, who married Charity Van Winkle in North Carolina.[1]

Most of the above statements can be substantiated. For example, the 1790 census for Surry County, North Carolina, on page 186 has:

	White Males 16+	White Males 0-15	White Females	Others	Slaves
Peter Sallee	2	4	5	0	0
Abraham Van Winkle	1	2	1	0	1

Peter bought 400 acres of land in Surrey county in 1782. His last transaction was in August, 1792. He is listed on a tax list for Lincoln county, Kentucky, in 1800. Known facts about his family indicate that he married Charity Van Winkle in Virginia, not in North Carolina, about 1763. He died in 1820, reportedly in Tennessee. Records of marriages and census's seem to identify seven of the nine children reported in 1790. They are listed below. The real problem is his parentage. Most of his descendants believe he was Pierre, eighth child of Guillieaume Sallé. The facts which are known support this hypothesis, but all are circumstantial. It should be noted that Charity Van Winkle who was Peter's wife, must have been the aunt of the above Abraham Van Winkle who married her daughter, Charity Sallee, who, therefore, was his first cousin. Peter's children were:

I. Charity Sallee was born 2 December, 1764, in Virginia. She married Abraham Van Winkle 6 February, 1787, in Surrey county, North Carolina. Abraham was a private in Capt. Josiah Hutt's company, Morris County Militia during the Revolution (D.A.R. #374341). This information about their children comes in part from the Wayne county history. Abraham was born in New Jersey 19 September, 1764. He died 23 September, 1839; she, 7 October, 1850; both at Franklin, Illinois.

II. Apparently the next two children were boys. Nothing is known about
III. them except they were listed in the 1790 census, and the dates for the other children suggest placement here in the sequence of births.

IV. John Sallee married Elizabeth Sublett 20 November, 1804. The Wayne county history seems to confuse him with a John L. Sallee who was born in 1813, married Jane Clemens Jones, and died in 1886 after a successful career as a lawyer and public servant. Probably John L. was a son of John and Elizabeth Sallee who was raised by Peter and Charity.

V. Sara Magdalen married William Bruton 16 June, 1806 in Wayne County, Kentucky.

VI. Moses Sallee, b. 12 December, 1783, married 27 January, 1813, Mary Deering. He died 16 April, 1840. She was born 1796/7 and died in 1858. He was listed in the 1820 census with: Males; 1, 0-9; 1, 26-44; Females; 2, 0-9; 1, 26-44. He was a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives, 1826-27. He was born in Spartanburg county, South Carolina, probably in late 1787, a son of Major George Bruton, who came to Madison County in 1795/6 and to Wayne county in 1802. George and Susan sold land on Otter Creek in 1836. Mrs. A. F. Rothmeier (chief contributor on this line) believes they moved to Stewart county, Tennessee, They were parents of three children.

VIII. Joseph Sallee married 21 January, 1810, Winifred Mayfield. The 1820 census shows them with two boys and two girls, all under ten. None of these children have been identified. Also living with them was a female over 45, who might have been Charity Van Winkle Sallee, the mother of Joseph. Pierre was not found in this census, so he could have died before the census was taken.

IX. A Mary Sallee, age 61, born in North Carolina, was living alone in in 1850 (Family #677). Since there is no other Sallee family with a daughter that old, she is assumed to belong with the children of Peter and Charity.

With minor exceptions, the preceding pages of this section have told about the children and grandchildren of Peter and Charity Van Winkle Sallee. The rest of this section will tell what is known about the succeeding generations.

Micajah Van Winkle is the only one of the children of Abraham and Charity Sallee Van Winkle about whom much is known:

> (he) was born on the Yadkin River (N.C.) and in 1798 was brought to Lincoln County, Kentucky.....He served as Magistrate and sheriff of Wayne for many years. In 1853, with his family, he located in Jasper County, Iowa, where he carried on farming until his death[1].

There is a pedigree for Mary Phillips who married Micajah which goes back to Christopher Phillips of Boxted, Rainham, England, who was the father of Theophilus Phillips who came to Watertown, Massachusetts, in 1630 with Governor Winthrop. Her father, Cornelius, was an influential farmer and slave owner, and served as magistrate and sheriff of Wayne County. Two of this couple's ten children became prominent.[2]

Ephraim L. Van Winkle (20 July, 1827-23 May, 1866) became in turn a successful lawyer, a state representative, Commonwealth Attorney for the Sixth Judicial District, and Secretary of State.

John S. Van Winkle, born 8 March, 1829, also became a lawyer. He, too, was elected to the Legislature and, after his brother's death, was appointed to succeed him as Secretary of State. When that term ended, he returned to law practice in Danville.

John L. Sallee, as mentioned earlier, was probably a son of John and Elizabeth Sallee. Her name suggests that she was descended from Abraham Soblet, Manakin Founder. John L. Sallee married Jane Jones. According to the census of 1850, both of them were born in 1813/4. He was a founder of the first Christian Church in Wayne County in 1831. He was Clerk of the Wayne County Court 28 May, 1866; Judge, 1851-54; State Representative 1850. Jane Jones was the daughter of Joshua and Hannah Todhunter Jones. She married first, Hannibal Clemens, uncle of Mark Twain. The Todhunters are said to have brought the first race horse, Tranby, to Kentucky. The following children are known:[3]

Hannah Caroline b. 1847 m. William Francis
ISSUE: Hannah Caroline

Mary Elizabeth b. 1843 m. P. W. Hardin

William Joseph b. 1850 m. Pauline Owens
ISSUE: Marie Sallee
William Joseph

Walter E. b. 16 Nov, 1852 became a M. D.

There is some additional information about five of the children of Moses and Mary Deering Sallee.

1. Harrison M. Sallee is shown on two census's: 1850 and 1870. The earlier one shows a two years old son, Moses, who is said to have died 8 June, 1859, from disease of the brain.

2. Lucinda Sallee Redman; the 1850 census suggests her husband's given name was Thomas. His age is shown as 48. A Mary Sallee was living with them who might have been her mother. Lucinda was not listed.

3. Melinda Sallee Redman is also listed in the 1850 census. Her husband was 35 and like Thomas, Lucinda's husband, was born in Tennessee. Four children are shown:

James G.	12	Mariah	8
Moses	10	Many A.	6

5. Ann Sallee Hurt, #42 on the 1850 census, had seven children at that time. Her husband, Ruben, was 32.

Ann	9	Moses	4
Harrison	8	Syreny	2
Joseph	7	Lucinda	1
Martin	5

6. Martin Phillips Sallee was the father of four children, all by his first wife, Margaret A. Jones. She was the daughter of Jefferson and Rachel Coffey Jones and was born in 1830 and died 11 January, 1862. She was a great-granddaughter of Joshua Jones, father-in-law of John L. Sallee. Note that their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, also married a Jones who was her third cousin. On 18 May, 1864, Martin P., married Susan Berry, daughter of William Harrison Berry and Elizabeth Ewing Carter.

Mary Elizabeth	m.	Elijah Marshall Jones
Jefferson	m.	Margaret Lanier
Amanda	m.	Isaac Lanier
Margaret	m.	Thomas S. Lanier

The three Lanier siblings who married the three children of Martin p., were the children of Buchanan H. Lanier and Nancy (Isaac) Earthman. The Laniers are said to be descended from the Lanier family of Virginia.

The Van Winkle Pedigree

Jacob Walingh Van Winkle (1599-1657) came from Holland ca 1624 and occupied a bouwerie on Manhattan Island. He went back to Holland in 1633; returned to New Netherlands in 1635; and returned to Holland again about 1641. He returned to America to stay about 1648. While in Holland the second time, he was married to Tryntje Jacobse (d. 1677). He received a grant at Pavonia which is now Jersey City, N. J. There he became one of "the Twelve Men" of the Province of New Jersey.

Jacob's son, Symon Jacobse, was born in 1653 and his will was probated 1732/3. He joined the Bergen Church in 1677. He was a member of the General Assembly. In 1675 he married Anntje Arianse Sip, daughter of Claus Arianse. the line continues with:

Jacob Waling	b.	1678	m.	1701 Jacomyntse Mattheuse Nieuwkerck, daughter of Mattheus Cornelisen
Simeon	b.	1703	m.	1727 Geertrudydt Vanderhook
Michael		1736--1808	m.	1758 Phoebe Carter

He served as private in the colonial wars and as corporal during the Revolution. He was the father of Abraham Van Winkle who married Charity Sallee. Likewise chronology suggests that the Charity Van Winkle who married Peter Sallee in 1763 was the sister of Michael. Phoebe Carter was born in 1738 and died in 1836. She was the daughter of Nathaniel and Hannah Price Carter. This branch of the Carter family went back three more generations: Barnabas, Nicholas, and Nicholas, the emigrant.[1]

Stephen Sallee

Several references have been made to a Stephen Sallé who lived on Silver Creek, Madison county, Kentucky, near to Hanry Sallé, No. 8. There is evidence that Stephen originated in Buckingham County, Virginia, and there are grounds for belief that he was a brother to Henry. Stephen was listed on page 96 of the 1820 census. He was born ca 1766 and died 28 May, 1861. His will (Will Book 12, p. 255) names the following :

Stephen P. Salle

William Salle (m. Hannah Burton, 10 September, 1825)

Mary Magdalin Salle Smith

John Salle (m. Mary Hagin, 13 February, 1821)

Rhoda (Salle) Tudor and Daniel Tudder (m. 29 February, 1816)

Oliver P. Salle and Phebe Tuder (m. 21 March, 1825) A physician.

Malinda Salle

Cynthia Salle

The land belonging to Stephen Salle was near the confluence of Jackson's Branch, Silver Creek, and the Kentucky River and near the Friendship or Maggie Smith graveyard.

Oliver P. Sallee

In October, 1814, an Oliver P. Sallee was drafted into the army at Owensboro, Kentucky, and served for six months. He was listed on the census of 1820 for Ohio county, Kentucky, with four sons and two daughters in the 0 - 9 bracket. The 1850 census for White county, Illinois, shows that he was born in Kentucky in 1790. His application for a pension on 6 January, 1857, gives his age as 60. The census age seems more probable. The following account summarizes the remainder of his life.

> Nephry J. Sallee, son of Oliver P. Sallee, was born in Ohio County, Ky., Feb. 4, 1816. He was reared on a farm. His education was limited, being received in the subscription schools. He moved with his parents to Spencer County, Ind., in 1832, and in 1839 came to this county, and settled in the woods in Indian Creek Township, where he still resides. He has always been a hard-working farmer. He was married Dec. 18, 1841, to Satira J. Meador. They are the parents of nine children, seven living--Robert G., Newton J., Mary L., Martha A., Mary M., Emily J. and Elizabeth J. The family are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mr. Sallee's father was in the Mexican war, in the battle of New Orleans, under General Jackson.[1]

While in Spencer county, Oliver bought land from Daniel Grass (estate) 20 April, 1834. He was also involved in the sale of the estate of James Wright 8 May, 1837. On 13 August, 1838, the record of the sale of the estate of Harry C. Pattridge, of the firm of Graham & Pattridge, are listed the names of J. W. Sallee, O. P. Sallee, Oliver P. Sallee, John Sallee, and Daniel Sallee among the debtors of the firm. A brief biography of another son provides the date of his death.

> Benjamin K Sallee, a native of Ohio County, Ky., was born February 6, 1824, being the eighth of thriteen children born to the marriage of Oliver P. Sallee and Elizabeth Johnson, both natives of the Old Dominion. They came to this county about 1832, and located on a tract of land in the Barnett neighborhood, where they lived until 1842, when they went to White County, Ill. The father died there in 1872, and the mother two or more years previous. Benjamin K. Sallee came to this county with his parents, but when they went to Illinois he remained and worked on a farm as a laborer until November 11, 1846, when his marriage with Elizabeth Hamilton took place. After marriage he worked on rented land until 1850 when he settled on a tract of land in the woods on Section 9, which he cleared and improved, and upon which he has since resided. Both himself and wife are members of the Methodist Church. They have eight living children; William B., Maria (widow of Samuel Knox), Nancy I. (wife of William Pool), James H., Samuel F., Hugh W., Narcissa, and one name not learned.[2] record of a marriage in Linn county, Missouri, between Oliver P. Sallee and Martha Howell on 22 Dec. 1853; and another between Willis Sallee, aged 24, and Angeline Howell, 13 December, 1854. It seems quite possible that these men are the children of Oliver P. Sallee.

Much is known about the children of Benjamin K. Sallee. Miss Christine Young, who has furnished much of the data about the Spencer county families, credits him with a ninth child, Zebela, whom she says was the fourth child. Family group sheets will be included for William Barney Sallee and for Narcissa Sallee Young. Details about the other children follow.

Thomas (?) James Sallee

On Page 103, reference was made to James Sallee as a possible son of Oliver Sallee. Since he was not named in Oliver's will, there if no positive evidence that he was Oliver's son. It is true that after his marriage to Mary "Polly" Hornbeck on 7 December, 1809, in Ohio county, they lived in Mercer county until 1820, and several of their children were born there. The groom signed his name as Thomas, but the fact that "Polly" applied for her father's pension seems to prove that Thomas and James were identical. From Kentucky, James and Polly moved to Spencer county, Indiana. While living there, they were members of the Little Pigeon Creek Baptist Church of which Thomas Lincoln was a member. (See Appendix) Later they removed to Bureau county, Illinois, where he died 6 Septwmber, 1858, aged about 72. She died 14 February, 1864, aged about 70. He was a farmer.

A Laura Jane Sallee Dooley, born 6 March, 1853, was accepted for membership by the D. A. R., because her father, Stephen Brown Sallee, was the son of James and Polly. Accordingly, his name has been added to seven children who were named on Polly's application for her father's Revolutionary War pension:[1]

The following account from the Pekin (Illinois) Daily Times tells about James Salle, II:

> James Sallee was born in Indiana, July 7, 1831, and is the son of James and Mary Hornbeck Sallee, the former of Virginia and the latter of Pennsylvania. Mr. Sallee, as he often remarks, was blown into Pekin. He was a passenger on the ill-fated Prairie State Steamer which blew up at the levee at the foor of Court Street, April 16, 1853. He was badly scalded and laid up for weeks between life and death and to this day wears terrible scars from the injuries received. He was on his way from Bureau County to Texas, but being cast ashore in a helpless condition gave up his western trip and has remained in Pekin. He is engaged in his trade, that of plastering. He enlisted in C. B. 108th Illinois infantry and served under Capt. Henry during the Rebellion. He was united in marriage with Catherine Sipes April 16, 1857. The union has been blessed with five children, three of whom are living. Mr. Sallee united with the Christian Church Oct. 16, 1876.

Abraham Hornbeck, father of Polly Sallee, was born in 1758, apparently in Big Valley, Pennsylvania. He enlisted for two years as a private in Capt. Abel Westfall's company, Col. Muhlenberg's regiment, Virginia Line. He was discharged at Valley Forge. A pension was granted him in 1819. A deposition which was found among the application papers is reproduced below in part. He died in 1834 in Spencer county, Indiana, and is buried in the Pioneer Cemetery near Eureka, Indiana. His wife, Hannah, was the daughter of William Cleaver. She was born in 1771 and died in 1824. They were married 30 April, 1783.

B. Daniel, Judge Aug 10, 1819

A deposition of John Haycraft taken at the office of Stephen Eleat in the County of Hardin and State of Kentucky on the 11th day of August one thousand eight hundred and forty five.

The deponent being of lawful age and first duly sworn deposeth and saith:

My father Samuel Haycraft removed from Bartley County Virginia and settled at Hynes Station, then Jefferson County near Hardin Ky in the year 1780 and I was born at Hynes Station on the 31st day of March 1781 and will be sixty five years of age on the 31st March 1864. Hardin County was established in the year 1793 and the first county court was held at the nouse of Isaac Hynes. I have seen Abraham Hornbeck at said Court and at Musters and elections held in Hardin County many times. He married Hannah Cleaver as I have always understood and it is my impression her father's name was William Cleaver. I know they lived together as man and wife from 1793 to the year 1803 on the waters of Sandy or rather between the Waters of Sandy and Nolin, near a place they called Lucas Grove. I remember that in the year 1794 while my father was Sheriff of Hardin County that he sent me to the said Abram Hornbeck's in company with John Schoolcraft, to get a fat steer and cow which he had agreed to take of said Hornbeck in discharge of a debt, which he as Sheriff had against said Hornbeck for collection. Said Hornbeck had two children ond one was named William the name of the other I think was Daniel (David), but of this I am not certain. Shortly after this time I moved to the County of Grayson.....

The membership records of the Little Pigeon Creek Baptist Chursh include five individuals with the name Sallee:

Salle, James, received into membership June 13, 1818; granted letter of dismissal, January 12, 1822; invited to attend next meeting, June 12, 1824; forgiven, October 9, 1824; cited to explain long absence, June 1, 1839; charge against dismissed, March 1, and April 5, 1834.

Salle, James, received into membership, November 3, 1837; granted letter of dismissal, August 24, 1839.

Salle, Mrs. James (Mary), received into membership, June 13, 1818; granted letter of dismissal, October 10, 1818 and March 13, 1819.

Salle, Stephen, Received into membership, December 13, 1817; charge against dismissal, June 12, 1825; granted letter of dismissal, August 10, 1826.

Salle, Mrs. Stephen (Mary), received into membership, December 13, 1817; granted letter of dismissal, August 10, 1826 and September 16, 1831.

John Sallee

The following line begins with an unidentified John Sallee. It seems quite possible that he was the John Sallee who was granted land in Kentucky in 1780 and who was listed as a taxpayer in 1800. The only fact about this man which is related in the account is that he was a native of Virginia who moved to Green county, Kentucky. (See page 100)

John Sallee, Jr., was a native of Green county and was a patriot in the War of 1812, in which war he served for three years. After the cessation of hostilities he married Margery Adams, then of Green county, Kentucky. In time he became the owner of six hundred acres of fine farm land on Casey Creek which he cultivated until 1833 at which time he removed to Illinois, going by river boat up the Mississippi river and the Illinois river to Naples, Illinois, from whence he went by railroad to Jacksonville, Illinois; settling ten miles east of there on Indian Creek in Morgan County. Soon, he bought an improved three hundred and twenty acres of land on Sugar Creek, Lee county, Iowa, and lived there thereafter.

Margery Adams was the daughter of Elijah Adams who was a farmer in Kentucky. Early in the 1820's he moved to Illinois, taking up land on Indian Creek in Morgan County. There he became an extensive land owner and made that place his home until he was called from this life.

William Sallee was the oldest of the twelve children John, Jr., and Margery Sallee are supposed to have had. He was born in Green county 6 May, 1821. In the year 1839 William Sallee came to Buchanan County with his sister, Mrs. Madden, now deceased. The journey from Lee county was made with wagons to which four yoke oxen were attached. In the spring, they stopped in Clinton county, Missouri. Mr. Sallee preceeded them and took up two claims, the one for the Madden family where the St. Joseph Union Depot now is and the other for himself, on the same ground where his present home in located. In the fall of that year the Maddens came to St. Joseph and William boarded with his sister.

In the early days the Iowa and Sauk Indians were numerous and William Sallee became conversant in their language. Earlier, at his father's house he had eaten many times with Chief Black Hawk. Before his sister came, he lived in a fort and often had occasion of spirited contest with the Indians and was obliged to plough his land with his gun ready at hand.

In 1849 William went to California being one of a company of fourteen of which little band he was appointed captain. They crossed the plains overland with oxen and wagons, going by way of Kearney, Laramie Salt Lake and South Pass, to Sacremento City thence up in the mountains prospecting for gold. After spending eleven months Mr. Sallee returned home by way of the Isthmus of Panama, New Orleans and St. Loius with nearly six thousand dollars as the result of his toils.

Earlier in 1845, William married Josephine Hunter, who was born in Kentucky (Cumberland Co.,) 15 October, 1826 amd died on 6 August, 1897. She was buried in Ashland Cemetery, St. Joseph. Soon after their marriage the young couple set up housekeeping in a log cabin erected by Mr. Sallee. He improved his farm, bought adjoining property until he had three hundred ten acres in one body. Forty acres of this land he later sold for twenty thousand dollars. In the early days he raised hemp on fifty acres devoted to that purpose but after the civil war he turned his attention to wheat raising, at which he was quite successful. He succeeded equally well in raising hogs having from one hundred thirty to one hundren fifty head. Subsequent to 1865 he set out an orchard of thirty-five acres. He now has twelve hundred peach trees and was the first to raise that fruit in this region. The product of that orchard he has sold for as high as four thousand dollars. In addition to this he owns two hundred forty-nine acres in Doniphan county, Kansas and four hundred forty acres in Platte county, Missouri. He was here at the organization of the township and also at the first meeting at which time the county seat of Buchanan County was moved from Sparta to St. Joseph. He helped erect the first school house in Buchanan county and was township trustee for two years. He died 21 October, 1907 and also was buried in Ashland Cemetery.

William and Josephine are said to have been the parents of twelve children. Information is available for eight of them.
